Doomed Boxer Plans Final Plea to Ottawa

Appeal Denied; Charles Mathews Will Go to Minister of Justice

An application for executive clemency on behalf of negro boxer Charles Mathews, alias Sonny Jones, sentenced to be hanged on Oct. 27 for the murder of a Vancouver woman, will be made to the Minister of Justice, defense lawyer Harold Fisher said today.

Mr. Fisher said he will ask the Minister of Justice to exercise the prerogative of mercy and to commute the death sentence to that of life imprisonment in the penitentiary.

The 20-year-old American boxer was moved to a death cell in the New Westminster penitentiary today to await execution. His appeal against a murder conviction was dismissed by the B.C. Court of Appeal here Thursday.

The court's decision was unanimous.

JUDGMENT

In handing down judgment on behalf of the court, Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan said that no substantial grounds of appeal had been advanced to warrant a new trial.

"It is impossible for me to say that the trial court's finding can not be supported by the evidence," he said.

Mathews was convicted in Vancouver assizes last June of the murder of Mrs. Los Angeles Smith, 44, in her Vancouver east-end home. He beat her to death with a hammer.

The accused also attacked and beat Mrs. Jocelyn Wallberg, who was living in an upstairs apartment in Mrs. Smith's home. She was left on her bed in a semi-conscious condition by the boxer.

Mr. Fisher in his appeal here pleaded that the boxer was insane when he committed the crime and was not responsible for his act. The court rejected his submission.

DISSATISFIED

Commenting on the case today, Mr. Fisher said he is not entirely satisfied with present-day legal definition of insanity.

"A case in 1843 fixed the test whereby a man is to be adjudged insane," he said. "In spite of the advances made in psychiatry during the past 50 years, the test remains the same.

During the hearing of the appeal Tuesday, Mr. Fisher was asked who would inform Mathews that his appeal had failed.

"After the Pavlukoff episode I can assure you that Warden Christie will tell my client," he replied.

His reference was to the death of Pavlukoff by his own hand while awaiting the outcome of an appeal against the death sentence. Mr. Fisher, associated in his defense, had taken word of the court's decision to the prisoner. Soon afterwards Pavlukoff committed suicide in his cell.

TOLD NEWS

Mathews Lacerates His Arms

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Charles Mathews, alias Young Sonny Jones, who Tuesday lost his death sentence appeal, inflicted minor injuries upon himself last night in retaliation to the appeal dismissal, Warden Hugh Christie of Oakalla prison said.

Christie said Matthews, due to be hanged Oct. 27, scratched himself 25 times on the arm, from the shoulder to the wrist, in an "expression of aggressiveness and hostility towards custody."

Christie said the wounds were of only a minor nature and were treated in his cell.

Prison officials said Matthews took the news that his appeal has been rejected quite calmly, but later scratched himself on a wire screen or the edge of the bunk in his death-row cell.

79 Douks Hear Fate Tomorrow

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Seventy-five Doukhobor fanatics, convicted of nudity at trials lasting only three minutes per case, began a 48-hour wait today as the court considered the sentences it will impose Friday.

Three-year penitentiary terms could be meted out to each Doukhobor.

Another 53 members of the Sons of Freedom sect, most of them women, still awaited trial. Seven of the 144 originally arrested for stripping in front of schoolchildren were acquitted. There were five remands.

Meanwhile, Oakalla Prison officials reported that the Sons of Fredom prisoners were all back on solid foods for the first time since being brought to the jail from Perry's Siding in the Kootenays.

All 144 Freedomites will be arraigned Friday on a joint charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency by parading nude in front of a small school house at Perry's Siding. Those already convicted of individual charges of being nude in a public place also will be brought up for sentencing then.

BERIA REPORTED HIDING IN SPAIN

Newspaper Claims FBI Members in Country To Interview Former Russian Leader

MADRID (Reuters)—The newspaper ABC reported today that Lavrenti Beria, former Soviet interior minister, is hiding in Spain after escaping from Russia.

The newspaper said it considered the story "probably" true, but offered no proofs.

It claimed that Beria was parachuted into the La Mancha region of central Spain. There he was picked up by a waiting car and taken to a spot on the Spanish coast.

ABC said that "Beria was flown to Spain by Soviet pilots who had taken part in the civil war in Spain and were therefore fully familiar with the country."

"He and the crew baled out and left the empty plane flying with automatic controls set and with the fuel supply calculated so that it would fall into the Atlantic and leave no trace."

ABC claimed that representatives of the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation had reached Spain to interview Beria, who fell from grace in Russia in July.

It said they bore credentials from Vice-President Richard Nixon and Senator Joseph McCarthy's Senate investigations sub-committee.

Most Madrid circles were inclined to dismiss the story as fantastic, but were puzzled to know why it had been passed by the press censorship here. Censors usually hesitate to pass stories in which decisions of the Spanish government are quoted, without making careful investigation into the matter.

ABC said that the government had granted permission for Beria to leave Spain.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Intelligence and diplomatic authorities said today it is theoretically possible, but "extremely unlikely," that Lavrenti P. Beria, deposed No. 2 Russian leader, has escaped from the Soviet Union and is hiding in a neutral nation.

"I would say that the odds are about 1,000,000 to one against it," said one highly-placed official who is in a position to know about any secret information reaching this government from abroad.

There has been no mention of the reports by the Soviet press and radio.

Pearson Tells Reds To Stop Stalling

Attend Korea Peace Talks, Canadian Minister Urges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Canadian External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson warned the Communists today that they have no justification for delaying or boycotting the Korean peace conference.

Pearson told the United Nations General Assembly that Korea "will provide an acid test for the hope and claim that successful negotiation can and must be conducted now, not only on the future of Korea but on European and cold war problems generally, in order to bring about an easing of fear and tension and a peace that will be something better than a cold war."

He called upon Communist China and North Korea to name their representatives to the parley "without delay" and to express their views on time and place of the meeting.

This was in line with the message now en route to the Far East Communists from the United States, proposing a face-to-face meeting at San Francisco, Honolulu, or Geneva to settle the site and date for that conference.

In that message, the United States suggested that the Reds could seek to raise the issue of participation of "neutral" countries—the stumbling block in the arrangements — once the conference actually got underway.

Pearson also supported this view.

Necessary Step in Peace-Making

"Once the conference meets," he said, "there will be ample opportunity to iron out other difficulties which may arise. But are these of sufficient consequence to justify the other side in boycotting this necessary first step in peace-making, not only in Korea, but perhaps in a broader area?"

Pearson suggested that if the Korean conference is successful in negotiation settlements on "a specific and defined range of questions," it may be possible to settle "wide Asian issues, not necessarily through the same mechanism we have recommended for the Korean conference."

This was support for the position fostered by the Commonwealth countries and agreed to by some American leaders that India and other neutrals could be invited to an over-all Far Eastern conference if the Korean parley is successful.

"If—and this is a big 'if'—there is good will on both sides, a settlement (of the Korean problem) should be possible. Any such settlement must provide for a free and united Korea, with a government resting on the will of the Korean people freely expressed through elections held under UN supervision. All foreign forces should, of course, be withdrawn, and Korea's security might be provided for under an international and supervised guarantee."

In an apparent reference to threats by South Korean President Syngman Rhee to resume the Korean war if the peace conference bogs down, Pearson formally notified the assembly:

"So far as the Canadian government is concerned, we will not support any military action in Korea that is not UN action, and we would be opposed to any attempt to interpret existing UN objectives as including unification of Korea by force.

"On the other hand, we are aware that the signing of an armistice does not discharge us from obligations we have already undertaken in Korea as a member of the UN."

A third message stressing the unwavering attitude of the United States was en route to Red China and North Korea through Sweden.

It urged Communists countries that opposed the UN in Korea to send representatives for a face-to-face meeting with a U.S. conference delegate at San Francisco, Honolulu or Geneva.

The communication included a suggestion that the Communists might attempt to have "neutral" nations represented at the conference through discussions at the conference itself.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., said the offer for a face-to-face meeting was made "to give as dramatic an indication as we can of our desire to get ahead with this conference."

Premier Frost Moves to End Gold Strike

Economic Future Of Area Threatened

TORONTO (BUP)—Premier Leslie Frost assigned his labor minister to the Porcupine gold mine strikes today as the mayor of Timmins came south to plead for the economic future of 50,000 northland citizens.

Approximately 4,000 miners were on strike at six mines in northern Ontario and Quebec and the CIO United Steelworkers' Union warned that "more strikes are inevitable" unless wage boosts were granted.

A strike by 1,700 miners at the giant Hollinger Consolidated, only major producer still operating, appeared imminent.

Frost instructed Labor Minister Charles Daley to meet today with Mayor J. W. Spooner of Timmins who feared prolonged walkouts would force a southward migration by idle miners and create "ghost towns" across the vast Porcupine field.

Charles H. Millard, Canadian director of the Steelworkers' Union, also was in conference in his Toronto offices, presumably mapping strategy for further walkouts at Hollister and five smaller mines left in operation.

"More strikes are inevitable unless wage talks are productive," Millard warned. "The anti-public, anti-social, anti-Christian mine owners have combined to try to smash our organization."

SIX MILLION STRIKE TONIGHT IN ITALY

ROME (UP)—Italy's printers walked off the job tonight, spearheading a 24-hour general strike by up to 6,000,000 workers calculated to paralyze the country.

The main strike was called for midnight.

But the printers anticipated it, and nearly all of Italy's booming industrial plants closed down at sundown tonight for the 24-hour period.

9 Known Dead In Acid Blast At Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP) — At least nine workers were killed today when a tank of acid exploded with terrific force at the Lucidol Inc. plant on the northern outskirts of Buffalo.

The blast rocked the suburban area for miles around and showered tons of debris on a nearby 1,250-unit housing project causing minor injuries to residents and badly damaging some homes.

Medical examiners found the charred torsoes of nine workmen who had been inside the structure when it blew up shortly before noon.

Three bodies had been taken from the smouldering ruins and six more were sighted buried under rubble at one end of the three-storey wood and brick building.

Iran Discounts London Report Mossadegh Hanged

TEHRAN (AP) — An informed army source said today that Iran's government would ask a military court to sentence ex-premier Mohammed Mossadegh to be hanged on charges to be announced probably in "three of four days."

This report from Tehran appeared to discount a dispatch from the Iranian capital to the London Daily Express today that the ex-premier had been sentenced on Tuesday to be hanged at the conclusion of a three-week secret trial. There was no immediate comment from Tehran on the Express report.

The army source said the government still had not decided whether Mossadegh's trial would be held secretly or in public.

Delayed Broadcast To Be Permitted On Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP).—The International Boxing Club has loosened its restrictions on radio broadcasts of the Rocky Marciano-Roland LaStarza heavyweight fight Wednesday after the Supreme Court granted radio station MOV, of New York permission to present a summary after each round.

A blow-by-blow description in the present tense, or a recreation of the fight, still is forbidden.

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) —Radio station KVAN here will recreate a broadcast of the heavyweight championship fight Thursday night despite an International Boxing Club warning against such blow-by-blow accounts.

HOUSE SPEAKERS

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black will make his contribution to the Throne Speech debate in the Legislature on Thursday afternoon.

His riding is Nelson-Creston.

Hope for Settlement Of Suez Canal Crisis

CAIRO, Egypt (UP) — Prospects for an agreement between Britain and Egypt over the Suez Canal zone appeared exceedingly bright today, according to the best informed opinion.

Reliable sources said Anglo-Egyptian negotiators were holding their crucial meeting at the residence of Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British commander-in-chief for the Middle East.

An important announcement may be made shortly after the session, the sources said.

MANY MORE RESCUED BY SOCIETY

300 Song Birds Perish Flying Into Empire State

NEW YORK (CP)—Scientists of the National Audubon Society today counted more than 300 night-flying song birds from upstate New York and Canada which crashed to their deaths against the upper storeys of New York's tallest structure, the Empire State building.

The songsters, carried by a rushing mass of cold air and unable to see the building in a haze, flew into the big structure and then dropped to its ledges and the sidewalks below. Many others, only slightly injured, were rescued by society representatives. These will be banded and set free.

SMACK INTO BUILDING

Society scientists concluded the birds were flying in a southbound mass of cold air which passed over the city Tuesday night. They followed the cold mass when it dipped under a mass of warmer air and ran smack into the Empire State building.

Uncounted hundreds of songbirds perished against the building in a similar manner in the fall of 1948.

Society representatives said the dead included 15 kinds of warblers, vireos, a northern white thrush and ovenbirds, all apparently migrating to the southern states.

RCAF Mercy Flight For Comox Youngster

VANCOUVER (CP) — An RCAF Dakota completed a successful mercy flight to Comox, B.C., early today, returning with a sick, two-day-old baby girl.

The baby was reported "doing well" in St. Paul's Hospital.

SOUTH AFRICA HOSTILE

Kate Aitken Charged With False Claims

OTTAWA (CP)—Radio commentator Kate Aitken today was accused of "misrepresentation of South Africa abroad and fabricating an interview she said she had in January with Prime Minister Daniel Malan of South Africa.

The accusation was contained in a pamphlet issued by Alexander Steward, information officer for the South African government in Ottawa. The monthly pamphlet is called "South Africa—The Complex Country."

Mr. Stewart said Mrs. Aitken "told of her hard-earned interview with Dr. Malan, who she described as a man worse than Hitler."

He said anyone checking Mrs. Aitken's "extraordinary statements" would have learned "that Dr. Malan has never set eyes on Mrs. Aitken and that the account of the interview was a fabrication from beginning to end."

"It's Dr. Malan's word against mine," Mrs. Aitken said in Toronto.

NEVER RECEIVED

Mrs. Aitken said she visited South Africa in January and was granted an interview with the South African prime minister. She said on her return to Canada she prepared broadcast material and a public address and submitted them for approval to the South African high commissioner's office in Ottawa.

Mr. Steward in a statement said "this material to which she, Mrs. Aitken, refers was never received by the high commissioner's office."

Mr. Steward also released the text of a letter Mrs. Aitken wrote to him Sept. 10.

The letter said Mrs. Aitken "tried to stress the fact of the future of South Africa, the outstanding effort the government has made to provide decent housing for natives, as many educational facilities as are possible and what seems to me the bright future of your part of the continent."

The pamphlet said Mrs. Aitken stated that she had prayed with Dr. Malan, at his request in Capetown.

"He asked me to pray with him, and that prayer was the most clear directive I have ever heard," the pamphlet quoted Mrs. Aitken as saying. "He gave God a good briefing, laid it on the line so to speak, about what God should do in his country. I asked myself, how can any man call himself a Christian and feel the way he does? Yet he is not a hypocrite, and not stupid. He is just convinced within himself that he is right."

The pamphlet said Mrs. Aitken stated that Dr. Malan told her African natives did not need houses because they could sleep under trees, that the natives should have no education but the whip, and that Jews in South Africa should be stripped of their possessions and run out of the country.

"These reports . . . were published by newspaper after newspaper in Canada without, apparently, the lifting of a single editorial eyebrow," the pamphlet said.

Reds Violate Truce Claims U.S. Air Chief

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—Lt.-Gen. Samuel E. Anderson, 5th Air Force commander, charged today the Reds moved planes into North Korea after armistice day and Gen. Mark W. Clark quickly called a conference with his staff to discuss reports of the truce violation.

Anderson, highest ranking United Nations air officer in Korea, said he knew a week ago of the Communist plane movements. A fugitive from Communism confirmed the reports Sunday.

Clark, supreme U.N. commander in the Far East, summoned staff officers to his headquarters and it was learned that he may break his silence on the alleged Communist air build-up tomorrow.

Clark was expected to demand a thorough investigation by neutral inspectors of North Korean airfields to determine whether the Reds had violated the truce.

Anderson said radar screens revealed that Communist planes, which had remained near the Yalu river during the Korean War, had ventured farther south since the Armistice than they had dared to go while Sabre jets were in the air to challenge them.

Young North Korean air force Lt. Noh Keun Suk backed up Anderson's charge by giving an eyewitness account of the Communist treachery after turning over his Russian-made MiG to U.S. authorities.

Noh said the Communists believed fighting would break out in Korea again and were preparing for resumption of hostilities.

Report Recommends Britain Retain Gallows

LONDON (Reuters) — Convicted murderers will continue to suffer death by hanging rather than electrocution or the gas chamber if the government accepts the recommendation of a specially appointed commission on capital punishment.

The commission, which made a four-year study, suggested today that execution by lethal injection, though at present unacceptable, be examined as a future alternative.

Its 300,000-word report also recommended that the government raise the age limit for the death penalty from 18 to 21, but found no grounds for exempting women from execution.

The 11-member panel was set up to study conditions of execution and prison life for long-term convicts, and was instructed to offer no recommendations on the merits of keeping the death penalty itself.

The panel was set up by the Labor government after the question of capital punishment blew up into a major political storm in 1948. During a seven-week period that year Britain abolished the death penalty and five murderers escaped the gallows.

After the House of Commons by a narrow margin passed a bill putting an end to hanging, Home Secretary James Chuter Ede advised King George VI to commute all death sentences for murder to life imprisonment. Capital punishment returned when the House of Lords overwhelmingly rejected the bill.

Today's commission report will be considered by the government and may set off new debates in the House of Commons, recently stirred by Labor allegations that truck-driver Timothy Evans may have gone to the gallows unjustly for slayings committed by John Christie, the Notting Hill murderer.

After an exhaustive study of execution methods in other countries, the commission decided that hanging was still the most effective. It disclosed that the time taken to execute the condemned prisoner from the moment the hangman entered the death cell is between nine and 25 seconds — a speed unequalled by any other method.

The commission abandoned the idea of trying to limit the scope of capital punishment by dividing murder into degrees, declaring it impossible to frame a satisfactory definition of murder in the first degree. In the United States degrees of murder were an established institution, but the legal definition of "first degree" was far from satisfactory.

The commission also made these other suggestions:

Suicide pacts: The law should be amended to provide that any person who aided, abetted or instigated the suicide of another person should be guilty only of that offense and not of murder. The penalty should be life imprisonment.

Mercy killings: The members considered a proposal to take mercy killings out of the murder category "with sympathy" but decided no definition could be framed which would not be open to serious abuse.

Criminal insanity: The present ambiguous definition of mental responsibility should be abolished and the jury left to determine on its own whether the accused man was suffering from disease of the mind or mental deficiency.

Mayors' Convention Learns Value of City Amalgamation

MONTREAL (CP) — The council chairman of Canada's first metropolitan corporation said today the Toronto metropolitan corporation is "a calulated attempt" to give local communities freedom in local matters while banding them together for services that are "metropolitan in nature."

Frederick G. Gardiner told Canadian and United States mayors in a statement prepared for delivery at the International Municipal Congress that the new scheme left the way open for eventual amalgamation of the communities if that is "considered the best course to follow."

"On the other hand," he went on, "if this new metropolitan form of government operates successfully, there may never be necessity for actual amalgamation."

Mr. Gardiner said the corporation was founded only after Toronto and 12 neighboring communities realized they could not tackle some of their problems individually.

"We had to be driven by intolerable inconvenience and the threat of financial disaster before we took the steps necessary to solve our problems," he said.

The corporation of metropolitan Toronto, established under the Toronto Metropoiltan Act 1953, becomes responsible for the area's water supply, sewage disposal, housing, education, arterial highways, metropolitan parks, certain welfare services and overall planning of the area Jan. 1, 1954.

FIRE WIPES OUT HEART OF DOWNTOWN YARMOUTH

YARMOUTH, N.S. (BUP)—The heart of Yarmouth's business section was a smouldering, blackened mass today.

Damage was estimated at $200,000.

There was also smoke and water damage to four adjoining stores. Two theatres nearby had to cancel afternoon shows when the smoke poured over the whole of the centre of Yarmouth.

IN THE HOUSE

Premier Bennett's decision to speak right after Liberal Arthur Laing last Friday drew comment from two members in the Throne Speech debate Tuesday.

Bruce Brown, (Lib., Prince Rupert), felt the premier's decision was designed to share in the week-end newspaper publicity.

"I must give him credit for being a political strategist."

Tony Gargrave, (CCF, Mackenzie), felt sorry for Mr. Laing because he was squeezed off the front pages.

Eden Asks Pledge Homes in Prospect Before Pipe Laid

Councillor Stanley Eden warned Saanich Council Monday to be "cautious" about providing water installations to all new subdivisions in the municipality without first obtaining some assurance that homes would be built on the land.

"There should be some form of guarantee that homes will be built on subdivisions before council orders the installation of water services to these housing areas," he said. "If we are not careful the municipality may find itself paying for water installations which may never be used."

He recalled that several years ago much of the land in Saanich was subdivided. "Then the bottom fell out of the land market and people were begging Saanich council to disregard the subdivisions," said Mr. Eden. "History can repeat itself."

Clr. A. P. Cummins said there was no evidence yet to show that subdivisions are not being put to use.

"A lot of land in Saanich is being subdivided," said Mr. Cummings, "but the lots are bought up quickly and the construction of homes starts almost immediately."

B.C. Prepares to Sell Huge Salmon Catch

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The British Columbia fishing industry prepared today for an all-out drive to sell an estimated 1,700,000 cases of salmon.

Industry spokesmen said they hoped to land enough Canadian and foreign orders to turn the big 1953 salmon catch into a cash asset instead of a surplus headache. There will be a strong attempt to increase the Canadian consumption of about 750,000 cases and a try at the U.S. market for at least 200,000 cases.

As many as 500,000 cases may go to Britain, other European countries and South America.

ALL WITH A TOY REVOLVER

Man Held After 5 Stores Robbed in 50 Minutes

TORONTO (BUP) — Police arrested Irving Midanik on charges of armed robbery after five stores were held up during a 40-minute crime wave early today. The loot from the five robberies totalled $500.

The first robbery occurred a few minutes after midnight at a St. Clair Street cigar store. Descriptions of the pudgy, bespectacled bandit tallied with those of a suspect in a car theft two days ago.

Five minutes later a bandit walked into a candy store just around the corner from the cigar store and escaped with $300.

Twenty minutes after the first holdup a Bloor Street cigar store was robbed of $110, and 10 minutes later a bandit entered a College Street cigar store but was foiled because the proprietor had emptied the till a few minutes earlier.

At 12.45 police found the wanted car in front of a fourth cigar store on Queen Street. The car's lights were off but the motor was runnnig. Police said they found Midanik confronting the store owner with a nickel-plated toy revolver.

Normal School Attendance Fall Laid to Socreds

Reid Attack Blamed By Liberal MLA

One reason for the decreased enrollment in B.C.'s two Normal Schools is the "violent, vicious and unwarranted attack on the educational system and teachers by J. A. Reid (SC, Salmon Arm) at the spring session of the Legislature, it was charged in the Legislature Tuesday by Bruce Brown (Lib., Prince Rupert).

(He was referring to Mr. Reid's speech in February which caused furore throughout the province. The MLA charged the B.C. Teachers' Federation was left-wing dominated, and that sex teachings in schools were immoral).

"This unfortunate episode did incalculable harm to B.C. by bringing our educational system into disrepute not only here but all across Canada," he said. "I appreciate that these ill-founded remarks were repudiated by the minister of education. But, to add insult to injury, the Salmon Arm member, confirmed by the North Okanagan member, stated publicly the premier told him he had done a good job and was behind him 100 per cent."

If Premier Bennett did not find it "politically expedient to admit or deny this allegation during the campaign that time has now passed," Mr. Brown stated.

PUBLIC INTERESTED

"I'm sure the members and the public are interested to know where the premier stands," he said. "I trust he will see fit to clear the atmosphere."

The northern MLA, himself a former teacher, proposed a three-point program in connection with the teacher shortage:

1. The education department should embark on an extensive program to publicize not only the need of, but the benefits and opportunities offered by the teaching profession.

2. Consolidate the two existing normal schools and link the training of elementary school teachers with UBC.

3. Abolish the small annual fee now charged students who attend summer school in order to obtain a permanent certificate, and subsidize them completely.

Mr. Brown, a school board trustee for eight years, said new legislation on education financing should be so specific that the municipalities are guaranteed the government will pay a fixed percentage — whether education costs rise or fall.

GUARANTEE LACKING

He believed the UBCM, B.C. Teachers' Federation and Parent Teachers' Federation opposed the Rolston Formula because there was no absolute binding guarantee that the municipalities would not suffer after the plan had been in effect for a year or two.

The member was highly critical of the government's plan to impose a 10 per cent tax on logging and mining company profits above $25,000. He said it will result in discouraging investment of risk capital.

If it's proposed to increase the mining tax mainly to get more money from the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Trail, as suggested in the election campaign, Mr. Brown said the greater portion of the company's profits come from smelting and other manufactures than from mining.

"Does it seem reasonable that the Dominion government should subsidize gold mines only to have the provincial government impose a greater tax on them?" he asked.

He reminded the government that 15 producing mines shut down in a six-month period in 1952, causing unemployment to 800 miners.

Mr. Brown pleaded with the government to devise ways and means to assist the fishermen, cannery operators and their employees. He said the recent strike was "nothing short of disastrous."

He regretted the government didn't intervene in the strike.

Inclusion of fishermen in workmen's compensation benefits and formation of a coast guard also were recommended by the Prince Rupert Liberal.

TOOK 'OVERLOAD' FLIGHT

City Stewardess Missed Plane In Which 28 Died in Flames

An American Airlines plane which crashed at Albany, N.Y. last week killing 28, was carrying an overflow of passengers from a flight on which a Victoria girl was stewardess, it was learned today.

Miss Dawn Van Norman, former assistant to the Women's Editor of the Victoria Daily Times who left the newspaper last February to train as a stewardess with the airlines, has written her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Van Norman, 1855 Fort, about the mishap.

The plane was en route from Boston to Chicago when it hit a radio tower at Albany. All 25 passengers and three crew members including a stewardess were killed.

Since the accident, Miss Van Norman has been transferred to another flight, flying direct from Chicago to New York.

WASHINGTON (UP) — A spokesman says the Civil Aeronautics Administration has received a report that mechanical difficulty may have caused the crash of an American airlines passenger plane last week at Albany, N.Y., in which 28 died.

The Civil aeronautics Board is investigating the crash and probably will hold hearings at Albany in mid-October, a CAB spokesman said.

BARBERS WON'T RAISE PRICE FOR SMALL FRY

Children's haircuts in Victoria will remain at 50 cents even though Vancouver barbers have increased their price for children to 75 cents.

A spokesman for the Victoria Barbers' Union said no thought had been given to increasing prices here. At the same time, he noted, many shops charge 75 cents for children's haircuts on Saturdays as a means of encouraging youngsters to get their haircuts in after-school hours during the week.

NIGHTMARE FOR DIOR

College Initiation To Be 'Brief' Affair

By DINAH KERR
Times College Reporter

A livelier line than Dior ever dreamed of will be modelled this Friday by Victoria College freshmen.

"Frosh Week" comes to a climax on Friday, when 250 freshmen bow to rigorous sophomore standards in conduct and dress.

As part of their initiation costume, freshettes will wear sackcloth skirts and freshmen, short pants, both two inches above the knee.

Freshmen are allowed a touch of mystery by the addition of a chin-length veil over heavy make-up.

All frosh must wear large signs giving their name, age, phone number and marital status.

On Friday evening, freshmen in full regalia will parade through the city drawing a tally-ho of 50 sophomores, en route to a dance at the Crystal Garden.

Other details of male initiation attire are: a boot with no sock on one foot, running shoe with lady's nylon on other foot, pyjama top, hair slicked down and parted in the middle, crepe paper bow tie, toy on string, which is to be parked outside the classroom during lectures.

Women will also wear a man's shoe with nylon on one foot, man's shirt, colored or tartan, to be worn underneath a man's old T-shirt, a loud tie, one nylon stocking pigtail to be worn on the head and carry a bouquet of flowers, weeds and vegetables.

Freshmen who fail to comply with these rules will suffer punishment at the Frosh Dance. Frosh Week festivities continue tonight, with a sing-song and "Howdy Hop" at Victoria College.

Gabriola Shipyard Gets Navy Contract

A quarter-million dollar harbor craft will be built at Withey's Shipyard on Gabriola Island, near Nanaimo, for department of defense production.

Award of the $243,084 job was announced at Ottawa today.

Also receiving a similar harbor-craft contract was Star Shipyard (Mercer's) Ltd., New Westminster.

Two duplicate contracts went to eastern Canada shipyards.

HOLLAND RUSHES TO DIKES

Atlantic Gales Kill Five; Tides Threat to Lowlands

LONDON (UP)—High autumn tides threatened the coasts of Britain and France and the Lowlands of Europe today as a gale blew itself out over the North Sea.

At least five persons were killed in the storm which raged across the Atlantic Ocean and played havoc with transAtlantic and coastal shipping.

Workmen along Holland's sea frontier where dikes were swept away in last spring's disastrous floods rushed to strengthen hastily-erected bulwarks of sandbags and timber. High tides were expected Friday in the "danger area" of southwestern Holland.

In England, too, sandbags were packed along the seawalls on the Devonshire coast, and in northern France. Norman villagers worked in heavy rain reinforcing the dikes protecting some of Europe's richest dairy land. The equinoctial tides are expected in Britain and France tomorrow.

Those who died in the gale included two crew members of the Liberian freighter Greenville which broke up in mid-Atlantic; a truck driver whose vehicle was blown off a Welsh road; a harbor worker swept into the sea in Devonshire, and a French sailor whose trawler grounded in Ireland.

POLPERRO (CP) — David Roose, 12, was fishing from the end of a pier in this Cornwall resort when he was swept into the sea by a low-flying swan. The boy swam ashore safely.

Secrecy in the Courts

LAST SPRING WALTER PAVlukoff was convicted of murder in Vancouver. His appeal was rejected by the British Columbia Appeal Court on July 7 last and a few hours later the prisoner committed suicide.

This would have been an ordinary murder case but for the conduct of the trial judge, Mr. Justice Manson. In a lengthy written judgment Chief Justice Sloan, of the Appeal Court, shows that he and his brother judges considered the conduct of Mr. Justice Manson with the greatest care and decided that it had not, as Pavlukoff's lawyers claimed, prejudiced the trial against him.

In the course of the trial, says the Sloan judgment, "the accused, from the prisoner's box, made some remarks of an insulting and provocative nature concerning the conduct of the trial which drew from the learned trial Judge the comment (in part):

"Fortunately for you the matter is in the hands of the jury—in the hands of the jury and not in my hands."

The Sloan judgment—a curious omission—does not mention that Mr. Justice Manson then instructed the press not to report his remark. It was not reported until it became the leading point in the appeal of the prisoner, whose counsel argued that the trial judge had influenced the jury against him.

Chief Justice Sloan explains that his Court is permitted "to dismiss an appeal notwithstanding error in the conduct of the trial or misdirection or non-direction of the jury if the court is of opinion on the facts that 'no substantial wrong or miscarriage of justice has actually occurred'."

In view of all the facts, the Appeal Court holds that no such wrong occurred in this case. In layman's terms, the guilt of the prisoner had been so proved that no new trial was justified.

Chief Justice Sloan says that "in a case where the evidence for the Crown is overwhelming and points irresistibly to guilt, what might appear to be a prejudicial error in a case of lesser strength shrinks in significance when weighed in the light of such evidence. The error might still be assigned yet it lacks the force to create any substantial wrong or miscarriage of justice."

Neither the wisdom of the Appeal Court nor the guilt of the prisoner is questioned here, but the Sloan judgment—a classic definition of such cases—does not deal with two vital points which have greatly exercised the whole Bar of British Columbia.

First, there can be no doubt that the quoted comments of Mr. Justice Manson were quite inexcusable. It is impossible to imagine Chief Justice Sloan or any other member of the British Columbia courts using the words uttered by Mr. Manson in a trial involving a man's life.

The fact that these words did not cause any miscarriage of justice, in a case of obvious guilt, is doubtless the only fact which concerned the Appeal Court in this particular case. But that does not excuse Mr. Justice Manson's outburst. It is to be condemned and has been privately condemned by the legal profession at large.

The Chief Justice cites two cases in which the Court ordered a new trial because of the "unconcealed conviction of the guilt of appellant" evidenced by Mr. Justice Manson. In the Pavlukoff case, Chief Justice Sloan takes note of Mr. Justice Manson's "departure in some degree" from the well-established principles of "judicial calm and judicial demeanor, aloof and detached . . ."

When Mr. Justice Manson instructed the press not to report his statement (which he evidently regretted as soon as it was uttered) he presumably acted within his powers. Strictly speaking, a judge is in complete control of his court and can close it, if he chooses, to the public and to the press.

But in criminal trials, especially murder trials, except when obscene evidence is being given, our courts should never be closed and, so far as we can recall, have never, nor has the press ever been prohibited from reporting public proceedings except in Mr. Justice Manson's court. It is an essential part of our system of justice that trials should never be secret for the convenience of the Crown, the prisoner or the judge.

Regrettably, the Appeal Court had no comment to make on this matter and uttered no warning to Mr. Justice Manson against a repetition of his offense. If this is not considered part of the Appeal Court's duty assuredly it is the duty of Parliament which, through the Government, is responsible for the conduct of our courts. Already this incident has been raised in Parliament. Mr. Garson, the minister of justice, has replied that he has no power over judges and the subject has been dropped. Parliament could usefully revive it and Mr. Garson should indicate in the strongest terms that the Government disapproves of any attempt to introduce secrecy into our courts. If necessary Parliament should pass legislation to this end.

Local Option

OVER A YEAR AGO ALL BUT four of the electoral ridings of British Columbia voted, by plebiscite, in favor of changing the present provincial liquor law. It is impossible to understand why that question should be referred to the voters again—at heavy cost, inconvenience and delay—or why the legislature cannot quickly put a new law into force.

Local option has always been the basis of liquor law in British Columbia. Areas like Victoria which did not desire beer parlors were never compelled to accept them. But the opinion of every constituency in the province on the opening of new liquor outlets was fully tested in the plebiscite of 1952 and that should be sufficient. There is no reason to hold a second plebiscite.

The four ridings which voted against any change in the law should be allowed, by the established principle of local option, to maintain the existing arrangements, even though a heavy majority in the province at large found them unsatisfactory. In these ridings another plebiscite perhaps is justified since the local people may have changed their minds in view of the province's general decision. Plebiscites elsewhere would be a waste of time and money and an evasion of the legislature's clear responsibility.

It has only one duty—to interpret the decision of the voters in legislation and to implement the findings of the Stevens commission. In the political confusion of the last eighteen months this business has been delayed long enough already.

The legislature should keep in mind, above all, that the intention of any new legislation should not be to increase the consumption of liquor, a convenient and tempting source of easy government revenue. As Mr. Laing, the Liberal party leader says, British Columbia is spending about $66 millions a year on liquor now and that is far too much. The success of the new law must be judged mainly by its effect on the drink bill, paid in money and human misery.

Narcotics and Profit

WEEKEND MAGAZINE'S PUBlication of RCMP Const. Gerald Howe's story has given national prominence to Vancouver's narcotics traffic and official efforts to smash it.

The article describes graphically the undercover work of the young constable who posed as an addict and collected enough evidence to catch peddlers and convict them. As the result of the round-up in which he played so conspicuous a part an exceptional number of traffickers are now in prison for terms up to five years.

But what happens after they have served their time? And during their absence from the streets of Vancouver, does anyone assume replacements will be lacking to carry on the illicit traffic? Has any lasting benefit resulted from the round-up, or have a number of those engaged in the despicable trade merely been removed from circulation for a short time to return to it when they are released?

These are questions which concern citizens of British Columbia who are rightly shamed by the fact that the province's main port has been listed as the worst point in Canada for the drug traffic.

No one questions the propriety of the RCMP acting promptly and harshly against peddlers. Peddlers are people who depend on the illicit business for gain, or at least sustain it in order to acquire their own supplies if they are addicts themselves.

But action against some peddlers is not enough. The traffic is lucrative because the illegal price of drugs is ballooned out of all proportions on the black market. And as long as there is gain to be made from it, unscrupulous persons will engage in it.

The skilled work of the RCMP in catching guilty parties is to be commended. Until some means of eliminating the profit from the operation is found, however, no permanent gains can be scored. From a practical approach, the more valuable course would appear to lie in removing the profit. Once that was achieved, there would be no job for the pusher.

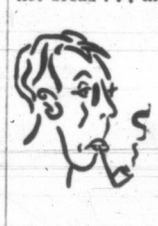

Time They Translated This Fable Into Egyptian

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

FOR the first time in about 10 years I've been fooling around with sourdough. I just make pancakes with it, not bread . . . though I plan to try some salt-rising bread any day now. No other pancake in the world is quite so satisfying as a really good sourdough one. The trouble is, mine vary enormously. The ingredients matter, of course, in spite of what the woodsmen tell you . . . they use their dough-can as a cross between a garbage pail and a witch's cauldron. I am pretty sure that oatmeal has made the sourdough nasty, much as I admire oatmeal (not rolled oats!), in everything from oat cakes to Athole brose (which is a drink, and a noble one).

Brock

Ah well, even when the pancakes of today never seem as good as yesterday's, I still get several delightful sensations free of charge. Eating sourdough, I feel he-mannish, different, economical, efficient and healthy. What more could you ask?

MILDNESS IS ALL

I HEARD a chap on the CBC giving a pep-talk about another speaker he felt we should hear regularly. This speaker, he said, was unique in being able to be pleasant about serious subjects. (That's a mighty sweeping statement!) This speaker never calls people names, never spouts dogma, and never calls down from an ivory tower. Well, I'm sorry to hear it . . . the speaker must be just about as dull as a wet Sunday in Toronto.

Apart from being great fun, calling things and people names is the only way of defining them, of making them stand out from the general fog. Dogma is the only thing a man is entitled to write about, in any serious way . . . unless he holds passionately that what he has to say is true and important, he's not worth hearing.

PROFESSOR Raleigh said long ago, in an informal sonnet written to a pal:

I never cared for literature as such.
The spondee, dactyl, trochee, anapaest,
Do not inflame my passions in the least;
And cultured persons do not please me much.
Great Works may be composed in French or Dutch,
Yet my poor happiness is not increased:
To me the learned critic is a beast,
And poetry a decorated crutch.

One book among the rest is dear to me;
As when a man, having tired himself in deed
Against the world, and, falling back to write,
Sated with love, or crazed by vanity,
Or drunk with joy, or maimed by Fortune's spite,
Sets down his paternoster and his creed.

In other words, sets down his dogma. And if that is the chap to write a book, by golly he is the one fit to broadcast talks, too.

AS for ivory towers, most of them don't exist, and the few that do are jolly good things, to whose tenants we should be eternally grateful. Generally speaking, better writing is done inside them than outside, and a better view is got from the top. Good talk, too, abounds in the few ivory towers I have been allowed to visit . . . visit in the flesh, or second-hand through books.

I suppose the CBC man used "calling names" in the worst sense. That is to say, trying to argue merely by sticking a label on a thing, and a wrong label at that, without defining terms. But that is exactly what he is doing himself, with his vague catchwords (and no argument) about ivory towers and such.

DEADLY PERIL

A TEMPERANCE outfit in Vancouver says that if we allowed slot machines to sell cigarettes in taverns, this would encourage people to frequent those taverns. In the name of Carrie Nation, why? You can already buy smokes from the waiter, can't you? In fact, they've got the whole thing upside down. A man might rush into a pub and grab a packet of smokes from a machine without ordering a drink. But if he has to sit down and catch a waiter's eye, he is very unlikely to have the nerve to order cigarettes alone. He orders a beer for the look of the thing, whether he wants it or not. Not only are some of these prohibitionists unacquainted with pubs, and with smokers and drinkers, but they seldom know very much about Old Man Human Nature (now called psychology).

WOT THE L

FOR maybe the hundreth time in my life I have been looking through my volume of Holbein drawings, seeing new things each time. Chesterton says something to the effect that when you stare at a thing for the thousandth time, you are in danger of suddenly seeing it for the first time. And this is what happened to me today, with the portrait of Sir John Russell, later Lord Bedford. For I've just noticed that above his head is written "Russell Ld. Privy Segle with one L". I take it that the instruction about the single L refers to Russell, not to Lord Privy Seale. I also take it that when Holbein or some editor wrote it across the drawing, his acquaintance with English wasn't any too deep, and he thought "with one L" was part of Sir John's title. Lovely (with two L's).

From Our Files

SEPT. 23, 1893—A report was current today that the E. & N. Railway, in the event of the Alberni gold district turning out what some people think it will—a second Cariboo — would extend its line from Nanaimo to Comox, with a line to Alberni.

SEPT. 23, 1913—In ideal weather, with the largest list of entries in the history of the fair, and with every indication of a record attendance, the B.C. Agricultural Exhibition was formally opened this afternoon by Lieut.-Governor Paterson.

SEPT. 23, 1933 — Imprisoned Doukhobors, whose nude parades focussed wide attention on B.C. in the spring of 1932, are gradually being returned from Pier Island to their homes.

As Our Readers See It

WRIGHT OR WRONG

The facts were that Mr. Percy Wright was given the 'go ahead' to run in the recent provincial election, with the blessings of the City Hall. It was announced Sept. 15, that the City Manager fired Mr. Wright.

Why was Mr. Cecil Wyatt so quiet, for so long? Is Mr. Wyatt a pressure group politician?

I contend that Victorians are not that wealthy that they can afford both a Mayor and a City Manager at the same time.

PATCHING UP CARS

An article written by Jack Smith, appearing in the Times of September 16, was strongly criticized by all present at the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Automotive Workers (TLC) joint council in Nanaimo Sunday.

The article was headed "Safe Driving," and pointed out ways and means to patch up stock cars and enable them to travel at excessive rates of speed, and other means of making these automobiles a menace on the highway.

The council is disturbed at seeing this article in a local paper due to the fact that the writer of the article is an instructor at the F. T. Fairey Technical Unit. The council does not believe the article contributes anything to safe driving, and in fact feels it is adding to juvenile delinquency.

LOOKS GOOD IN SURREY

During my recent stay in Victoria, I read in the newspapers and heard over the radio that certain gentlemen are offering their valuable services for the purpose of providing Victoria with an outstanding mayor for the years 1954-55.

I also faintly heard and sadly read that most of these very recent distinguished persons are the sweepings from the fire of recent political disestablishment.

Seen in all their aspects, the personalities and careers of some of the prospective candidates appear to belong to the realm of heroic fable. In a primitive world they would have become a legend.

I feel, too, that they are possessed of vanity and conceit beyond words, but, one must also be endowed with some brains, self-control and be able to keep a deathlike silence unless they know what they are talking about (such as funny money).

It would be well if a certain member of your city council could forget the sound of his own voice for a bit, at council meetings, and thereby allow his colleagues to retain their sanity.

I heard, too, over the radio, that when the good publisher, Stuart Keate, was outlining his opinion as to where one of your aldermen would place in the federal election, "the gentleman in question" said that he should have punched Keate on the nose for telling him the truth, so you see he could deliver a smashing blow (with his fist). Apparently Keate is a tolerant person.

Your present mayor, C. L. Harrison, has not the omnipotence of the late McKenzie King, nor the eagle flight of John Hart, nor the oriental magic of the prime minister, nor the fascination of President Eisenhower, but he has a rare combination of qualities that make him invaluable as a leader in your city affairs. He has no egotism, no vanity, no jealousy. His freedom from jealousy is one of the rarest and most precious virtues of public life. Keep him as your mayor.

T. HOLE.

BUTTLE LAKE TIMBER

The valuable timber round Buttle Lake is as much the property of the people of Vancouver Island today as when it was first presented to them in giving them perpetual right to Strathcona Park.

What right has the British Columbia Power Commission, or the provincial governmnet to retain any of the money obtained from the sale of Buttle Lake timber?

The B.C. Power Commission is reimbursed for expenses (and makes, does it not? an excellent profit) by its sales to the public. If the provincial government takes the money, its plain duty is to expend the whole amount upon improvements to Strathcona Park; making it more accessible, etc.

Only a plebiscite can confer upon the provincial government, or the B.C. Power Commission, the legal right to use for other purposes, the money obtained from the sale of Buttle Lake timber.

IN THE VINEYARD?

Here is a public question on which some of your readers might like to try their wits. An answer to it would clear some ground, especially for our legislators. The question is, according to the laws of the Bible, should civil servants have arbitration rights?

Some readers in their letters to the Times emphasize the importance of the Bible in our affairs today, and that question affords an opportunity for them to live up to their contentions.

UPLIFTING

I should like to express to you, sir, my appreciation of the fiction story by Bill Strutton, "The Inspiration," published in the The Sunday Times, Sept. 19.

Unlike most stories it had uplift and interest and I, personally, would like to see more of a similar tone.

I am 79 years old, and of course, old-fashioned, and I recognize that you have to cater to readers of different ages, with different tastes and ideas.

I am always sure of enjoying Gregory Clark's weekly contribution.

Finally, my wife and I rebelled when you advanced the price of your newspaper, but consider the Week-End magazine well worth the extra charge.

Otawa Citizen

FOR those who like to uphold the merits of whodunit literature Mr. Francis A. Hardy, parliamentary librarian, has produced a new ally—and one who may well have a good point.

Explaining why the stately Library of Parliament contains such a large stock of detective stories, Mr. Hardy told the Canadian Library Asociation conference that he always defended this choice by quoting a remark of the late Ernest Lapointe. Mr. Lapointe, an important figure in the cabinet of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, traced his good use of colloquial English to the reading of such literature.

STORED AWAY

As he once told Watson in an intimate moment: "A man should keep his little brain-attic stocked with all the furniture he is likely to use and the rest he can put away in the lumber-room of his library where he can get at it if he wants it."

At another point, he airily described circumstantial evidence as "occasionally very convincing as when you find a trout in the milk, to quote Thoreau's example . . ."

Rex Stout's hulking Nero Wolfe, who seldom pushed his bulk out of an armchair, mixed erudition and straight-from-the-shoulder bark.

"You regard my rule not to leave my house on a business errand as one of the stubborn poses of a calculated eccentricity," he affirms. "It is no such luxury. It is merely a necessity for a tolerable existence . . ." Minutes later, as an aide struggled to explain the situation, Wolfe snarled: "I'm here—talk."

LAID WITH CORDS

Dapper Hercule Poirot, the precise sleuth of a dozen Agatha Christie epics, was gentler, infinitely more polite. "Voila," he exclaims, "how clear, how marvelously clear . . ." Where did he get his "first glimmering of the truth?" "I was in church at the time singing a verse of a psalm. It spoke of a snare laid with cords . . ."

Perhaps Mickey Spillane, who continually unlooses steel-nerved Mike Hammer among a bevy of blondes and corpses, would have provided Mr. Lapointe with his most valuable lesson.

Hammer, who must skirt the beautiful gals athwart his path to a solution of the crime, is not a man to shrink from indelicacies. "I'm not letting the killer go through the tedious process of law," he makes it clear. ". . . The law is fine. But this time I'm the law and I'm not going to be cold and impartial."

Later, he elucidates for anyone who has any doubts: "When the time comes for me to put a bullet in the killer's gut, I'm going to be alone—just me, the rat and a single bullet."

There's Spillane and a capsule lesson in lingo for you.

THE South African Information Office has reported to Parliament that South Africa got a bad press abroad last year. This, we imagine, will come to the South African legislators as another glimpse of the obvious. Certainly the references abroad to South Africa could not by any stretch of the imagination—even an Information Office imagination—be called good.

If the Information Office were content to point out the fact this could be accepted as just another report that government agencies must make from time to time to justify their existence. But the South African agency goes on to claim that there was an organized overseas press campaign to besmirch South Africa.

Any newspaperman on this continent reading that statement will be tempted to utter a naughty word. That South Africa got a bad press he will readily admit, but he will argue that it got a bad press because of Nationalist government action and not by reason of any organized campaign to besmirch the Union.

Indeed, none of the criticism was directed at the Union as such. The brickbats were directed at Dr. Malan and the Nationalists who cheerfully overrode the constitution, threatened to override the courts, and encouraged native resistance by adhering to an apartheid program that held the seeds of that "oppression and slavery" the Information Office says were charged to the country. No one charged South Africa with anything. Not even the South African Information Office claimed Dr. Malan's program had love at its base. To outsiders it looked as if it were firmly based in hatred.

The Information Office's report looks like an apologia for its own failure to halt or mitigate the bad press. Heaven knows it tried. No mention of South Africa but brought its reply from an information officer. But even the best PRO can't argue a bad case and we feel quite sure the South African Parliament will understand why the Information Office was unable to present a report of achievement rather than failure.

STINGER

The poison is made up of two fluids, formic acid from one gland and an alkaline from a pair of glands. They unite in a tiny reservoir and then flow down a channel of the sting into the wound, being pumped down it by a special set of muscles. When once the bee has set the poison flowing the operation becomes automatic, so much so that if the bee tears out the whole delicate apparatus you can watch the muscles still working the pump, and this movement has been known to go on by itself for as much as eight minutes until the machinery runs down.

ON THE TIMES — By ART STOTT

Back Seat Battle-Ground

WHILE Dean Miller, public relations man for car insurance companies, was explaining to me that my insurance cost 10 per cent more this year only because I was receiving a bonus—it would have gone up 30 per cent otherwise—he told me of the precautions some firms take before they give an applicant protection.

I was pretty preoccupied with the thought that I couldn't afford many more bonuses like that, but he managed to get one or two points across to me. One outfit, he said, asked drivers if they had happy home lives before it fixed insurance rates for them. With an unhappy home life, rates went up.

Stott

The idea seemed to be that if a man was working out cutting remarks or squelchers for his wife while he was driving home, he wouldn't be paying too much attention to his work at the wheel. Or worries and frustrations would be detracting from his concentration.

There's a certain logic in that reasoning, but it presupposes that a happy family life is going to make a better driver. That I doubt.

In a small sampling of the happy home, I've come to the conclusion domestic felicity has its problems for the driver too, particularly the driver of the family car in which at least three children ride in the back seat.

NOT BACK-SEAT DRIVERS

This is not a problem of the back-seat driver. My friends and I, who come from reasonably happy homes, have a quick cure for the back-seater giving too much advice.

We listen to instructions from the rear for about two minutes, wreathe our faces in pleasant smiles and then snarl over our shoulders, "You wanna drive?" The technique is effective. Kindness does it, I guess.

Nope, back-seat drivers don't bother us at all. But back-seat children give up the screaming meemies. They start edging a driver to insanity even before they get into the car. Three of them will invariably shout "Bags-I a seat by the window." That opens the ruckus. One of them has to sit in the middle. The gripe from that indignity can carry on for a quarter-hour if you don't turf them out and make them touch their toes at the roadside while you exercise with willow shoot.

And even when they're apparently happy, their separate individualities assert themselves in a way that does not soothe the troubled brow of the man at the wheel.

Put three kids in the back seat of a car and sooner or later they burst out singing. That may be no worse than a radio, though there is a difference. Two kids can agree on one song. The third almost invariably decides to sing another, or to destroy harmony by going off key if he's forced to conform to the majority.

GAY BUT HIDEOUS

So you find yourself bowling along the highway with two trebles piping away at "Some Enchanted Evening" and a third cracked voice bellowing "Take Me Out to the Ball Game." Before you know it, the cacophony becomes an action song, with the Enchanted Eveningers bopping the Ball-Gamer on the head.

Figure the reaction on the driver. And one insurance company gives a premium to happy home car-owners.

From the song routine the action moves easily to the squeeze. The kids on the outside, using the sway of the car on curves, heave into the one in the centre in a sandwich process that should develop a long, thin child, but usually inspires a dog-fight instead.

Now there's a simple way out of this trouble. If every family car were a limousine with a sound-proof panel between the driver's seat and the back, you could lock the dear little animals in and forget them until you reached your destination. The car designers are just not on the bit in their present planning.

Or you could forbid sedans to all families with children and insist on station wagons. Then everyone could have a seat by the window. But if you're depending on the happy home to produce good drivers, you're leaning on a reed.

FROM OTTAWA — By VICTOR J. MACKIE

A Fresh Look at Tariffs

THE time is rapidly drawing near when a complete review of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade will be undertaken by the contracting parties. A general review is envisaged under Article xxix of the agreement and with such a re-examination of the multilateral trading relationships impending the eighth session of GATT now in progress at Geneva takes on added importance.

Mackie

Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, commented on this fact when he spoke recently at the meeting. He stressed that the main task of those participating was to ensure continued progress in the development of mutually advantageous trade among the nations. He spoke with enthusiasm of the accomplishments to date under the agreement and congratulated those far-seeing fathers of the agreement who had brought it into being.

Admittedly GATT is an imperfect document and can be considerably improved upon. Mr. Howe spoke of this and expressed the hope that steps toward improvement would not be too long delayed.

He was convinced that without GATT the dislocations resulting from the Second World War would have been much more persistent. He counted himself among the supporters of the agreement because whatever its shortcomings it provided the best basis so far attained for the successful and efficient conduct of world trade.

Under it governments have consulted each other on trade matters, tariffs had been reduced and fair trade practices established—all major achievements.

On the debit side Mr. Howe admitted that GATT had failed in some respects. World trade was still hampered by quantitative restrictions. However, taken on the whole he doubted that any responsible person would seriously propose that the nations abolish or weaken the structure of international trade arrangements now erected.

Now that the time was nearing when GATT was to be subjected to a general review, the immediate question to be settled was when should the review be undertaken.

In addition to taking a fresh look at the basic provisions of the agreement, the participating nations might well wish to provide for further multilateral tariff negotiations, connected with the accession of new governments, said the Canadian minister. Here he obviously had in mind the United States.

At the same time, he said, an opportunity should be afforded to existing contracting parties, to carry on such negotiations among themselves as might be required.

"When these major tasks are undertaken, constructive thought must be given to the best methods of rectifying the problems of deficit countries, so that they can participate in trade on the basis of the principles of this agreement," Mr. Howe said.

"The basic question will be: what policies are most in the interests of world trade and of the countries which participate in it? In answering this question it will be necessary to give careful consideration to the responsibilities of creditor countries as well as of debtors and to reach understandings on this score."

These problems of trade and commercial policy could only be dealt with satisfactorily in circumstances where the governments concerned had reached some conclusions on where they were going, not only in trade policy but in the field of international finance and payments as well, Mr. Howe declared.

IN HOLLYWOOD — By ALINE MOSBY

Monroe on Husbands

ALINE

The round blonde's other colleagues in the inner circle of select top sex queens are busy in the romance department.

Ava Gardner's been married three times, Lana recently took her fourth husband and Rita becomes a Mrs. for the fourth time this week.

But Marilyn has only one brief teen-age marriage behind her, and she's taking her time about picking another mate.

"I have no plans right now to marry Joe DiMaggio," she said firmly. "I hope to marry some day, of course, but I don't think it will be several times. Of course, circumstances come up you have no control over, but I don't think I will do that.

"After all," said Marilyn, who's wiser than she looks in the movies, "if you find enough in one person, that one person is enough."

Marilyn's been dating Joe now for almost two years, a record engagement in this land of passion and pitfalls. The gossip columnists marry them at least once a week, but the "mmmmm" girl insisted she's still single.

"There's nothing I can do if people want to print those things," she said in that soft, breathless voice. "How could Joe and I possibly have been married secretly any place without somebody finding out about it? Besides, we would have no reason to do such a thing.

"Right now I'm busy decorating my own apartment and I bought a new couch. It's orange and velvet and low and it sinks when you sit in it," she sighed.

Marilyn not only hasn't collected husbands in real life, but she doesn't get any in her pictures, either, unless you count her marriage of convenience to Tommy Noonan who played the mincing millionaire in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." For the first time she will win a he-man on celluloid, Robert Mitchum, in "River of No Return."

"Now Mitchum is a real man," speculated Marilyn, as she patted a low-cut chemise she wears in the picture when, naturally, her shirt is torn off. "They never let me have one before in pictures. It's like playing tennis. You have to have somebody to throw the ball back."

'Market-Hunting' Charged in Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—A record number of game-law infractions in the Netley-Libau marshes, including wantom waste of more than 75 ducks in a single instance, was reported Monday by Arnold P. Davey, chief of game detachments for the Manitoba department of game and fisheries.

Duck hunting opened in Manitoba last Friday.

"It seems that in recent years provincial hunters were becoming conservation-minded, but my experiences on the first two days this year showed standards had slipped back to market-hunting days," Mr. Davey said.

Mr. Davey and conservation officers of his department picked up 31 guns and four complete motorboat outfits in the Netley marsh area alone.

Guns and equipment were confiscated for breaches of the Migratory Waterfowl Convention Act, ranging from shooting before legal opening time and shooting with unplugged repeating shotguns to running motorboats in prohibited areas and shooting from a motor-propelled boat.

BOOKMAKING CHARGES

CALGARY (BUP) — Seven suspected bookmakers began a one-week remand on $1,000 bail today and warrants were issued for two others after a police raid on eight establishments.

Some 19 police officers and men, led by Detective Inspector Kenneth McIvor, swooped down on the suspected premises at noon Tuesday.

Six of the arrested men were charged with bookmaking and the other with allowing his premises to be used for recording bets.

UNION MUST PAY $5,000

WINNIPEG (CP)—Damages of $5,000 and costs against members of a union have been awarded by Chief Justice E. K. Williams in a judgment arising from the suspension of a Winnipeg milkman.

The chief justice Monday also granted an injunction to restrain local 119, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America AFL-TLC from stopping John Evers Tunney, the milkman, from deriving full enjoyment of his rights as a member of the local.

The 46-page judgment criticizes the action of Ed Houle, business manager of the local, and instructs that he account for certain moneys he had during his term as the manager.

Tunney in his original claim asked damages because he was suspended by the local and as a result lost his job with the Crescent Creamery Co. The suspension allegedly resulted from a personal dispute between Tunney and Houle.

FORCED LANDING

EDMONTON (CP)—A light aircraft running out of gas landed on the North Saskatchewan River within the city limits Monday. It was believed the first time a plane had used the river since the hey-dey of the northern bush pilots 20 years ago.

Transport department officials were able to identify the pilot only as Bill Williams, a Texan who had been holidaying at Banff. They did not know his home town.

The pilot put his float-equipped Cessna-170 down on the river when he felt he did not have enough gas to reach the seaplane base at Cooking Lake, 20 miles southeast of Edmonton. He took off for the base after obtaining some gas.

OIL PRODUCTION UP

CALGARY (BUP)—The Alberta petroleum and natural gas conservation board reported today oil output in the province during the week ending September 14 reached a near-record 271,559 barrels a day.

The board said the daily average production rate was only a few thousand barrels under the record of 274,029 barrels set earlier this year. Output came from 4,248 operating oil wells.

The Redwater field was the biggest producer during the week, with Leduc-Woodbend in second place and Bonnie Glen third.

GRAIN PRICE WAR DENIED

WINNIPEG (BUP) — Canadian grainmen today denied that recent wheat price movements between No. 1 northern and other grades represented any attempt at an international price war.

Officials, commenting on a report from New York, said they did not consider that increases in the premium for No. 1 northern represented price reductions for export wheat.

New York grainmen accused the Canadian Wheat Board of trying to create stiffer competition for the United States in world markets.

However, grainmen here denied that prices of lower grades of Canadian wheat have been reduced to take advantages of the American method of paying subsidies.

DUNCAN — North Cowichan council has refused a request from the District 65 school board for approval to borrow $3,500 to correct a damp ground condition under Cowichan High School.

Council wants to know the cost of the job, and will consider the request only after the board tables tenders on the work itself.

CHEMAINUS — Provincial lands department has approved the application of Island Wharf and Dock Co. for foreshore rights here where the company and related concerns plan immediate erection of scow berths for shipping wood chips.

Eventually a deep-sea dock will be built.

The department stipulated that if a dock were not built within five years because of poor economic conditions, the firm would be given every consideration regarding a time extension.

PEI Phone Employees To Take Strike Vote

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I. (BUP)—The Prince Edward Island government today granted employees of the Island Telephone Company permission to hold a strike vote but set a time limit on when a strike could begin.

The workers, members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, want a 7 per cent wage increase and a five-day work week in accordance with an arbitration board recommendation.

Premier A. W. Matheson gave permission for the vote but said no strike would be allowed until three weeks after the balloting.

Saanich to Receive Federal Grant Of $18,853 in Lieu of Taxes

Saanich will receive a grant of $18,853 from the Federal Department of Finance, Ottawa, in lieu of taxes for Crown property situated within the municipality.

The grant is for the period 1950-1953, it was disclosed in a letter from the finance department read to Saanich Council Tuesday. Similar grants are being made to other municipalities which have Crown properties within their boundaries.

Reeve Joseph Casey said Crown property situated in Saanich included the Veterans' Hospital, Gordon Head army camp, and Little Saanich Mountain Astrophysical Observatory.

POLICEMAN'S BLACKJACKING COSTS QUEBEC TOWN $6,545

BOURLAMAQUE, Que. (BUP)—A judge who ruled that a policeman used "more force than necessary" when he fractured a drunken miner's skull with his blackjack ordered this mining town to pay the victim $6,545 damages.

Walter Salamanchuk, 35, a mine electrician who was injured a year ago on being arrested for drunkenness, had sued for $36,753.

"A blackjack is a dangerous weapon, and an officer should use it only when necessary and with the utmost care," Justice Henri Drouin said.

BELMONT PARK BALLOT COUNT NOW OCTOBER 5

Election of council and town manager at Belmont Park has been delayed from September 25 to October 2, it was announced today by George Coghill.

Ballots will be counted October 5 at a special town council meeting attended by all nominees, the present town manager added.

Belmont Park, a department of national defense subdivision for RCN personnel, is not organized under the Municipal Act but residents handle their own village matters through the council in co-operation with the navy.

FROM THE ATHABASKAN?

French Tend Mass Grave Of 44 Unknown Canadians

MONTREAL (CP)—A mass grave in which the bodies of 44 unidentified Canadian soldiers are buried is carefully tended by the villagers of Plouescat in France, R. Berrurier, secretary-general of the Council of European Muicipalities, said Tuesday.

He spoke at the International Municipal Congress, a convention here of some 1,500 mayors and top civic officials from the United States and Canada.

Mr. Berrurier said he had been asked by the mayor of Plouescat to assure Canadians the sailors—washed up on the shores of Britanny in the spring of 1944—had received a Christian burial.

The villagers pooled their resources to bury the Canadians, Mr. Berrurier said, and caring for the grave has become a community project.

Each spring the villagers plant fresh flowers on the burial plot and remember the sailors in their prayers.

Although no one knows which ship the sailors came from, it was in the spring of 1944 that the Canadian destroyer Athabaskan was sunk by a German torpedo as she fought Nazi destroyers in the English Channel.

9-FOOT SPROUT

COGENHOE (AP)—A vegetable garden in this Northamptonshire district produced a brussels sprout with a seven-inch stalk, towering nine feet. An ax was needed to cut it down.

Lydia Pinkham's action through sympathetic nervous system—relieves distress of the "heatwave"!

• Are you going through "change of life"—suffering the "hot flashes," nervous tension, irritability, weakness and other types of functionally-caused distress of this difficult time?

Then ... here's hope for you. In tests by doctors—on their own patients—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave relief from such distress. Complete or striking relief! In case after case!

Scientifically modern action!

Surely you know that Lydia Pinkham's is scientifically modern in action! Surely you know what it has done for others!

But do you know what it will do for you? Not if you haven't experienced the relief of tension, "flashes" and irritability it so often brings at such times!

Before another day has passed—try Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound ... or the new, improved Tablets (with added iron)...and discover how much easier your "change of life" may be!

NOTE: Lydia Pinkham's is grand, too, for functional cramps and "weak" feelings of menstruation! Millions of younger women, and girls, take it regularly—throughout the month—for this purpose!

THERE IS ONE THING SURE—

Ike's 'High Taxes' Remark Puzzles GOP

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congressional leaders were puzzled and perturbed today by President Eisenhower's warning that high taxes may be the price of security in the H-bomb age.

They hoped that the President's remarks, in a major political address at Boston last night, did not mean that the administration will submit a stiff new tax program to congress next year. But they recognized the possibility that Mr. Eisenhower may have been preparing the public for just such a move.

Mr. Eisenhower's speech, delivered before a $100-a-plate GOP chicken dinner in the Boston Garden and broadcast to the nation by radio and television, included a ringing pledge of U.S. willingness to negotiate for peace or resist aggression. He also laid down a Republican political credo emphasizing the conviction that Americans are "one people" rather than a group of "conflicting classes."

But it was his single cryptic allusion to high taxes that attracted most attention here.

The chief executive returned to the White House early today without elaborating on his declaration that "there is no sacrifice—no labor, no tax, no service—too hard for us to bear to support a logical and necessary defense of our freedom."

Saanich May Keep Chimney Builders In Close Control

A by-law requiring bricklayers to obtain a special permit from the fire department to build chimneys, was requested by Fire Chief Joseph Law at a meeting of Saanich Council Tuesday.

The by-law would ensure the construction of sound and safe chimneys, he said.

"I feel such a by-law is necessary because there are too many tradesmen who are putting up chimneys which do not comply with the municipal building by-laws," he said. "This would put an end to faulty workmanship and would protect home owners."

The council referred the fire chief's recommendation to the building committee for study.

The council endorsed a recommendation of the fire chief asking that the fees for the inspection of oil stoves and furnaces be raised from 50 cents to $3 and $5, respectively.

He said the fees would cover cost of mileage and time spent in carrying out inspections of oil installations in homes. Other municipalities charged the same rates for these inspections, he pointed out.

KILLED BY BUS

HULL, Que. (BUP)—Provincial police said today an inquest would be held into the death of 18-year-old Juiliette Legros of Masham, Que., who died last night after a car struck her as she alighted from a bus near here.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The Irish put their feet into the starting blocks again tonight and dig.

It's all or nothing for the Shamrocks now in the fifth heat of the Mann Cup lacrosse championship series with Peterborough.

And regardless of what happens, it's been a gala season and one that sports fans should cherish and appreciate.

Walker

The Irish trail Peterborough three games to one in their Mann Cup bid but more important this city is proud to have been host to the two hottest hotbeds of the game in the Dominion.

In this regard the Petes have the jump as they do in the series. They started in search of boxla's highest bauble immediately after the war. The Rocks have been an organization for just four years.

The Petes average around the 2,500 fans a game during the regular season while the Rocks do that slightly better. There isn't another spot in the country that can show more returns.

How did Peterborough get where they did? Well, to be truthful they went out and cornered the boxla market a couple of years ago and it's this all-star aggregation that is still holding them up as they bid for their third successive Mann Cup tonight.

One novel idea the Petes have—and it helps keep the players happy—is that 15 club directors are charged each year with raising funds to help meet incidental expenses—expenses incidental with champions and their needs.

Petes Run Their Own School

But in addition, the Petes have a minor lacrosse organization that this year catered to something like 400 youngsters. Director Ken Kingston handles the executive duties and Don Ashbee the lion's share of the field work. Training the kids is Ashbee's full-time job.

And as club president Bob Peirson says: "The kids always end up in the black."

The Petes own their box and thus are not stuck for rental fees, while the players on a junket such as this are reported to be the recipient of sufficient pin money, plus what salaries they might otherwise lose, to keep them in tailor-mades during their visit.

The Petes operate on a straight business basis. Each player makes his own deal and the club executive handles the details.

The Rocks play it differently. The club has sort of a co-operative arrangement agreed upon by the players and executive with special consideration being shown at times during the season for extraordinary merit.

Indirectly the Irish assist minor lacrosse but not in the manner of the Petes. Sale of programs at Intercity League games is the main source of revenue for the kids who come under the jurisdiction of the city association.

City Youngsters Learn Lessons Well

It's been a long struggle in both centres but the fruit is now bearing well.

This year, for example, three minor Victoria teams annexed provincial championships.

Doug Fletcher was the guiding hand, but it seems a pity that he had to dig into his own pocket to help keep the ship on an even financial keel.

There won't be any Shamrocks of the future if the kids aren't cultivated. Fletcher has been doing too much considering other means available and it would be a great boon to the sport, and to the Shamrocks, if they could take a leaf from Peterborough's book and run their own school.

Peterborough officials will gladly reveal the details. And those interested in the sport, in the youngsters, and in the Shamrocks, should be interested enough to inquire.

Are they? We think so.

LaSTARZA GIVEN LITTLE CHANCE AGAINST CHAMPION

Marciano Solid Choice to Retain Title

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—The odds favoring heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano over challenger Roland LaStarza soared to 4½-to-1 today and may go even higher when the two step into the Polo Grounds Thursday night for their 15-round title fight.

Despite the long odds and the fact that there are few among the fight mob who give the 26-year-old contender a chance, interest in the fight continues to mount.

Ringside seats are selling beyond the 18th row. Ticket scalpers are demanding and getting handsome premiums for the $30 ringside seats within the first 10 rows.

Jim Norris, president of the promoting International Boxing Club, predicted he would have at least $300,000 in the till the morning of the fight.

MARCIANO

"With any kind of a break in the weather—and the forecast is excellent—we'll do at least $100,000 at the Polo Grounds for $400,000 or better," he said.

"With the minimum guarantee of $100,000 for theatre-TV, the fighters have every chance of getting paid off on $500,000.

The weather bureau's forecast for Thursday evening is "fair and warmer."

The bout, starting at 10.30 p.m. EDT, won't be broadcast or telecast into homes. A telecast will be beamed over a closed circuit to 45 theatres in 34 cities and towns from coast to coast at prices running about $3.60 a head.

There was more betting action reported on knockouts within a certain number of rounds than on the actual outcome. It was 12 to 5 that Roland would not go the distance; 9 to 5 LaStarza would not go 12; and even money that Rocky would stop his opponent within eight. The odds were 8 to 1 that Roland would not knock out the champion.

The 29-year-old Brockton blaster had been a 3½-to-1 favorite for weeks, but the odds jumped when heavy Marciano money showed with few LaStarza takers.

One reason was the almost-solid support for the champion by the boys in the trade—the managers, trainers, matchmakers and seconds. Several said the same thing in different words. It added up to Marciano by a knock-out because of his "ring viciousness, intense desire to win, overpowering punch and strength."

LaSTARZA

Meanwhile, the two gladiators went into virtual seclusion until the weigh-in ceremony at Madison Square Garden at noon Thursday.

Marciano broke camp at Grossinger, N.Y., on Tuesday night and went to a secret retreat on Long Island. He will limber up lightly and take a walk today.

LaStarza planned to run about 4½ miles early today and then rest. He won't leave his Greenwood Lake, N.Y., camp until Thursday morning when he will motor in for the weigh-in. He expects to scale between 188 and 190 pounds. The champion figures to weigh about 186.

THREE GUESSES

Browns Moving, But Whither?

NEW YORK (AP)—Toronto or Montreal—and not Baltimore as everyone thinks—will get the St. Louis Browns' American League franchise, in the opinion of one major league executive, but his prediction ran into denials on all sides today.

GORDY BENNETT

BOWLING MEETING

Britannia Branch No. 7, Canadian Legion Carpet Bowling Club, will hold a meeting at 1616 Blanshard St. Friday night at 8.

The executive, who asked not to be identified, said that "at least three clubs will vote against moving the Browns to Baltimore."

"Clark Griffith of Washington and the Macks of Philadelphia don't want Bill Veeck Browns' between them," he continued. "Don't expect the Yankees to vote for Baltimore, either . . . It's my guess the Browns will be in Toronto next year.

"I'd say it is a 60-40 proposition right now between Toronto and Montreal with the odds favoring Toronto. I understand Veeck and Jack Kent Cooke of Toronto have some sort of an agreement between them."

But all the parties concerned were quick to deny that the executive had his facts straight.

"It's news to me," said Veeck in Chicago. "That informant knows things I don't."

Griffith was even more emphatic.

"It just isn't so," he said. "On the contrary, I'll vote for Baltimore no matter what the other clubs favor."

Commented Roy Mack, vice-president of the Athletics:

"I intend to go to the owners' meeting with an open mind on the Browns' situation. I do not intend to reach a decision on the matter until Veeck has presented his plans to the owners."

CITY SOCCER OPENS WITH THREE GAMES

Victoria and District Football Association will kickoff the season this week-end with three games.

Canadian Scottish and Wood Motors (formerly Adanacs) will meet in the inaugural at Macdonald Park, Saturday at 2.30.

Two games are billed Sunday, Esquimalt meeting Heaneys, and Victoria West playing Civil Service. Sites for the games have not been determined although one contest will be at Macdonald Park.

Membership tickets, entitling the bearer admittance to all league games, are available at $5 apiece.

United Offers Travel Plan For Supporters

Victoria United will play its second Coast Soccer League game of the season Saturday, meeting New Westminster Royals at Vancouver's Callister Park.

Members of the United Booster Club are making provision to take a number of fans over to the mainland for the game.

Cars will leave Memorial Arena Saturday morning at 11 for Patricia Bay airport and will leave Vancouver at 6. Round trip cost, including bus fair in Vancouver, is $8. Arrangements can be made by phoning E-1924, G-6692 or G-5576 before 6 Thursday night.

Successful in their first home date last Saturday, United will play seven more games in Victoria during the first half, the next being on October 3 against Vancouver City.

October 3—Vancouver City.
October 10—Firefighters.
October 24—New Westminster.
October 31—North Shore.
November 14—St. Andrews.
November 21—Firefighters.
December 5—Vancouver City.

Sammartino Gets Browning's Berth

Irish Hopes Rest With Win Tonight

Sarge Sammartino, who mysteriously lost his powerful scoring punch at the end of the Intercity Lacrosse League season, will attempt to relocate the spark tonight, and the Mann Cup fortunes of the Victoria Shamrocks may hinge upon his success.

The crew-cut speedster who came to the Rocks from Vernon this year, ranked second only to Archie Browning for cunning, around the net, and scored 58 goals during the season.

But with the commencement of playoffs, Sammartino suddenly was unable to buy a goal and with regret, Rock coach Red McMillan was forced to bench the fleet forward.

With Browning side-lined for any future games, Sammartino will see action in his first Mann Cup game tonight when the Rocks meet Peterborough Trailermen in the fifth game of the cup series, Petes holding a commanding 3-1 lead in games.

The broken finger Browning sustained in Monday's game has knocked him out of the line-up and necessitated a shuffling of forward lines.

Nanaimo's Spud Morelli will take Browning's place on the first string line with Whitey Severson and Lew Landess while Sammartino will rejoin his old line-mates, Jackie Northup and Arnie Ferguson. The third line of Duff McCaghey, Harry Irwin and Norm Coates will remain intact.

PETES ANXIOUS

The Peterborough club, reportedly negotiating for an exhibition game on the mainland before returning home, would like to end the series as soon as possible and will be going all-out for the series-winning victory.

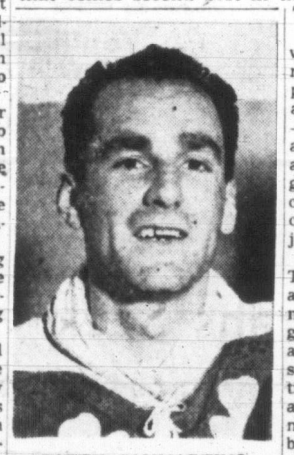

A win tonight will give them their third straight Mann Cup, a feat that has not been accomplished since Orillia won it in 1934, 1935, 1936.

Petes' playing coach Bobby Thorpe, back in good graces after serving a one-game suspension, is expected to strip for tonight's game to make the Shamrocks' comeback attempt even more difficult.

Monarchs Even Minto Cup Final

TORONTO (CP)—No disgrace will befall the team that comes second best in the fight for the Minto Cup Thursday night.

SARGE SAMMARTINO
. . . faces Petes tonight.

For no matter which team wins — New Westminster Salmonacs, western Canada champions, or Long Branch Monarchs, eastern representatives—fans attending the games agree that the best-of-five Canadian junior lacrosse final can go either way. Witnesses here claim the series is one of the closest ever seen for a national junior championship.

The claims were justified Tuesday night when the Monarchs scored a goal with little more than a minute of the game remaining to squeze out an 8-7 decision that forced the series to the limit. The victory tied the series 2-2. The Monarchs had spotted New Westminster the first two games—both squeekers.

LATE GOAL DECIDES

Tuesday night's contest, postponed twice after the Salmonacs were stricken with food poisoning Friday, was in doubt all the way until Normie Neave fired the winning goal at 13.24 of the final quarter.

Lary Ruse, high scorer for the Monarchs all season, and Howard Smith, each with two goals, led the Long Branch marksmen. Glen Passmore, Jack Coleman and newcomer Denny McIntosh added singles.

Alfie Angel, Jack Barclay, Ivan Gujar, Don Martin, Noble Collins, Stan Cowie and Don Sepka fired singles for New Westminster.

Burnside Tombola Bowling Winners

Afternoon winners on the final day's play were rinks skipped by G. Walkey of Canadian Pacific, J. Lynas of Beacon Hill with H. Jackson's Burnside rink, and P.M. Tallack's rink from Beacon Hill taking evening honors.

Ranger-Cougar Clash Draws Fan Interest

Judging by the demand for tickets this morning, the New York Rangers' exhibition hockey game against Victoria Cougars Tuesday at Memorial Arena looms as a sellout.

Cougar general manager Fred Hutchinson reported that interest was high in the NHL club's visit, which game will also mark the first appearance at home of the Cougars this year.

Meanwhile in Seattle, coach Billy Reay has the Cougars scrimmaging after only three days in camp.

Reay is centering Stan Maxwell and Bill Sinnett on one forward unit with Sinnett doing double duty on another three-some with Ed Dorohoy and Gordie Cowan.

Newcomer Gene Achtymichuk has been pivoting veterans Colin Kilburn and Andy Hebenton with Reg Abbott working between Sylvio Bettio and Pentti Lund.

PLAY AT NANAIMO

Cougars open their three-game exhibition series Saturday night at Nanaimo, meeting the Seattle Bombers prior to the start of Western League action.

Vessels Gains In Point Race

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canadians still hold the top two spots in the Western Interprovincial Football Union individual scoring race, but Billy Vessels, Edmonton Eskimos' fleet-footed back from Oklahoma, is fast closing in.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show that Vessels was top scorer last week-end as all clubs played one game, breaking through for two touchdowns to run his point total to 30—only one point behind Buddy Korchak of Winnipeg Blue Bombers and four behind leader Pete Thodos of Calgary Stampeders.

Medalist Wins

The Uplands Golf Club women's "B" championship tournament moved into the quarter-finals Tuesday.

Referees Big Problem Facing City Ice Loop

The Commercial Hockey League will lack only one ingredient this year—Leo Ornest.

The colorful referee-in-chief, who was so unpopular with fans last season that he was a drawing card all by himself, has taken a public relations post with the Seattle Bombers of the Western Hockey League.

However, other than the loss of Ornest, league officials expect the 1953-54 season to be the biggest ever for the once-a-week league.

The season is scheduled to open with a musical bang Oct. 14. On hand will be the Navy band, while a flock of door prizes will be given away to patrons.

As was the case last year, two games will be played each night with the first game starting at 7.30. Wednesday will be Commercial Hockey night in Victoria, with the new entry, Nanaimo, playing their home games Saturday nights at Nanaimo Civic Arena.

Rejoining the four-team circuit are defending champion Victoria Merchants, last year's Individual Cleaners, who may have a new sponsor when the season opens, and Navy.

The Nanaimo entry, taking over Army's franchise, will be coached by Eddie Shamlock. Army was unable to rejoin the league this season as a rule has been passed whereby no civilians can play for the soldiers, and they did not feel it was possible to build a strong club exclusively from Army ranks.

A tentative league schedule calls for each of the Victoria teams to play 24 games during the season, six of which would be at Nanaimo on Saturday nights. Nanaimo will play regular Wednesday engagements in Victoria.

There is also the possibility that inter-city exhibition games may be arranged with the Vancouver Commercial Hockey League.

League secretary-treasurer Bill Oliver, who with president Doug Fletcher forms the two-man governing body this year, has announced that anyone interested in refereeing this season can get further information by phoning G 4770.

Rangers Edged By Stampeders

CALGARY (CP) — Frankie Ashworth set the pace with two goals as Calgary Stampeders shaded New York Rangers 3-2 in an exhibition hockey game before 4,115 fans at Victoria arena Tuesday night.

Dean Prentice and Ike Hildebrand were the marksmen for Rangers.

Goaltender Bill Brennan, playing his first game for Stampeders, was a standout between the pipes as he stopped the goal-hungry Rangers cold on many occasinns.

Hoop Game Gets Lift, Entries Close Oct 3.

One of the best-attended meetings of the Victoria and District Basketball Association in years Wednesday night gave hope that the "basket" may be back in basketball.

A packed house at St. Louis College set the closing date for entries in all city leagues at 6 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 3.

Entries must be accompanied by fees and must be received by secretary, Hilda Jones, at 1168 Union Avenue.

Fees set are: Senior A, $7; senior B, $6; junior, $5; juvenile, $4; bantam, $3; midget and biddy, no charge.

The meeting, under the chairmanship of Russ Atkinson, was attended by all of last year's teams and several new prospective entries, including Navy.

NO ONE REALLY INDISPENSABLE, BOMBER RECORD PROVES

Yanks Solve Own Problems

(Part of a Series)

NEW YORK (UP) — The New York Yankees are confident that Phil Rizzuto, brilliant shortstop of eight pennant-winners, will be replaced in 1954 or 1955 as smoothly and expertly as was Joe DiMaggio, greatest player of his decade, in 1952.

"We have Gerry Coleman to take over for Rizzuto," says general manager George Weiss. "He's a helluva shortstop."

While Weiss did not minimize the fact that Rizzuto has been one of the key men in the Yankees' march to five straight American League pennants, he discouraged any talk of "an indispensable man."

"We were faced with a major crisis when it became clear that DiMaggio was going back as a player," he pointed out. "DiMaggio was the greatest player of the decade and replacing him posed an enormous problem. Many experts said the Yankees could not survive the loss of Joe but we did.

"Rizzuto has been a truly great shortstop," Weiss continued. "In fact, I believe, with Coleman to fill in for him, he will continue to be an outstanding shortstop playing in 115 or 120 games in 1954.

"Then, when Phil decides to call it a career, we'll have Coleman to step in just as Mantle stepped in for DiMaggio," Weiss said. Moreover, there always is Billy Martin, who also can play shortstop."

Weiss recalled the crisis which faced the Yankees as DiMaggio drew near the end of his fabulous career. It was another instance, he said, in which manager Casey Stengel's ability to handle a young player meant so much to the success of the team.

"We obtained Irv Noren from the Senators in a much-criticized deal," he pointed out. "We were forced to give up a lot of talent but it was absolutely necessary because, with the departure of DiMaggio, opposition teams were beating us consistently with right-handed, hard-stuff pitchers.

"Noren did a good job and then Mantle developed into a front-line big leaguer," he continued. "The farm system produced in Mantle a player capable of replacing DiMaggio although Mickey is by no means the equal of DiMaggio in his all-around play.

"Mantle, however, possesses the fundamental abilities to develop into DiMaggio's equal," Weiss said. "In the meantime, Stengel has been doing a wonderful job bringing out the best in a young player who has had great responsibility thrust upon him."

It was in 1952, Mantle's first full season as the Yankees' center-fielder, that he thought the Yankees' string of pennant successes would be broken, Weiss admitted.

"We were unable to pile up a big lead and were faced with a schedule which called for us to play only three games at home during September," he explained. "I believed that it simply was not in the cards for us to win and that we'd fail to win that fourth straight pennant.

"But," Weiss went on, "then Mantle came on so beautifully in September and proved decisive in the last month. You would have to say that Mantle was the key man in winning the 1952 pennant."

And, says Weiss, Coleman can be just as successful in accepting the torch from Rizzuto as was the 21-year-old Mantle in taking it from the fabulous DiMaggio.

Yank's Tactics Arouse Ire of Dane Net Star

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP) — Torben Ulrich, Danish Davis Cup player, said today that he walked off the court during a tournament tennis match because he "did not enjoy" his opponent's game.

Ulrich, fourth-seeded in the foreign list of the 64th annual Pacific coast tennis championships, put on a display of temperament yesterday while playing Bill Hoepner of San Francisco.

At the time, Hoepner was ahead, 11-9, 4-1, and had a 30-15 lead in the sixth game of the second set. Because of Ulrich's walkout, he won the third-round match by default.

Hoepner had sent one "blooper" after another at the bearded and shaggy-haired Dane, who became visibly irritated both at Hoepner's soft shots and his stalling tactics.

Hoepner frequently, halted play to clean his glasses, tie his shoe lace or change racquets.

Finally, Uurich saluted the referee, then called Hoepner to the net for the customary handshake. After that, he stalked off the court.

"This isn't the way tennis is played," he said.

"Winning is not so important to me. The game is the thing. I did not enjoy this one . . . if winning means that much to Hoepner, he's welcome to it."

In other third-round matches, top-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati defeated Wyllis Betts, Boston, 6-0, 6-0.

Second-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia defeated Stan Smith of San Francisco, 6-0, 6-0, and George Gossier, San Francisco 6-0, 6-1. Fourth-seeded Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., defeated Bob Nelson, San Francisco, 6-3, 6-2.

VANCOUVER RACE SEASON MOST SUCCESSFUL EVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's 72-day horse racing season ended Monday, the best in British Columbia history.

Exhibition Park, where the meet closed, handled $5,764,022 through the mutuels, an increase of $522,317 over last year.

The take at Lansdowne Park was $4,475,630, up $125,369 over 1952.

Fivepin Association Should Aid Bowlers

By RON COULTER

How many fivepin trundlers here know that a Greater Victoria Fivepin Bowling Association is being formed?

That's right! A Greater Victoria Fivepin Bowling Association. Surprised? Well here's the setup.

A meeting of interested keglers was held last week at Capital City Bowladrome with the objective of setting up an executive for such an organization.

Eric Chayko, a former Vancouver bowler who was instrumental in starting the movement, was elected president. Reg Pugh was chosen secretary and Bert Copp treasurer.

These three will form a permanent committee and meet with five delegates, to be chosen later, who will represent all affiliated leagues in the Greater Victoria area.

The objective of the association is first to set up a uniform set of rules to be used in all affiliated leagues. If successful, the association will sanction and promote tournaments as is done in Vancouver by the mainland organization.

Also the local group could affiliate with the Western Canada body and its members could then compete in the Western Canada championship tourney which may be held in Vancouver this season.

Furthermore, the prospect of Canadian championship competition here looms as a possibility for the future.

Entry fee is only $1.25 per team per season.

On the action front, most major leagues are scheduled to get under way this week or next.

The Senior Tenpin League started Tuesday night, while the Commercial tenpin loop, which will again have 20 teams, is scheduled to commence September 30.

The Strathcona Tenpin League with a 10-team entry list opens Thursday.

Gibson's Commercial Fivepin League opens next Wednesday night, September 30.

The Greater Victoria Fivepin Singles Classic at Capital City Bowladrome begins Thursday.

Bowling in the singles classic this year will be divided into two sections, division based on last year's average. An 80 per cent handicap will be given. Scoring is done on the point system, not average, and the first prize objective is again an automobile.

The league will roll Thursday nights at 10 this year and any one interested is asked to notify the alleys where entry forms are available. Approximately 30 players have entered. There is still room for at least 20 more.

Harry Stuart will not be managing Gibson's Bowladrome this year. Harry has been the victim of ill-health the past winter and says he is retiring.

Eric Smith, former manager of the De Luxe alleys in Vancouver and well known bowling columnist, has taken over the managerial duties.

Four Veterans Seek Uplands Club Crown

Sunday's semi-final matches in the championship flight of the Uplands Golf Club men's championship tournament will match four seasoned veterans, any one of them capable of annexing the title won last year by Bob Woods.

Eric Hibberson and Willingdon Cup veteran Bob Morrison meet in one half of Sunday's semi-final round while Gordon Pellow meets Frank Scroggs in the other bracket.

Morrison, probably the strongest contender, gained the semi by ousting young Warren Williams, 6 and 5, in the quarter-finals. Hibberson moved ahead by downing Bernie Rogers, 3 and 1.

Pellow won the closest decision, being taken to the 18th hole before downing Paul Phillips, 2-up. Scroggs made the semi-final round by virtue of his 5 and 3 victory over Jack Sparks.

Sunday's draw follows:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

Bentley's Acquisition by Rangers Hints Worsley Headed to Canucks

SASKATOON (CP) — New York Rangers have obtained Bev Bentley from Saskatoon Quakers for their substitute goalie in the 1953-54 National Hockey League season.

Bentley was regular goalie for the Rangers' Western Hockey League farm club last season.

Ranger manager Frank Boucher also announced Monday night before leaving on a western tour with his club that negotiations are being made to bring Bob Lalone, graduate from Flin Flon Bombers, champions of the Saskatchewan junior circuit, to the Quakers as understudy to veteran Chuck Rayner.

Bentley, nephew of Quaker coach Doug Bentley, will report to the Rangers when they return from their western junket. He became regular Quaker goalie last season when Lorne Worsley was called to New York to replace the injured Rayner. Bentley will understudy Johnny Bower, obtained in a trade with Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League.

Worsley, who is battling Bower for the Ranger job may end up in Vancouver.

Centre Max Bentley, acquired from Toronto Maple Leafs after last season, did not leave with the Rangers because Boucher gave him a few days off to complete some private business. Max will join the Rangers in Victoria Sept. 29.

Boxing Drills Begin Thursday

Any local youngsters wishing to join the Victoria Fire Department Boxing Club are asked to be at the No. 1 Hall, Cormorant Street, Thursday night at 7 for registration.

Coaching the club this year will be Ted Duffin and Ted Beale.

HOUSTON, Tex. — Irish Johnny McCray, 137, Houston, stopped Sonny Luciano, 137, Miami (10).

Rochester Gains IL Baseball Final

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Rochester Red Wings made it three in a row over Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night, winning 8-1 to take the first-round International League baseball semi-final series 4-3.

A crowd of 11,532 saw the pennant winners gain the final round against either Montreal or Buffalo, who were idle. Montreal leads that round 3-2.

JUST TRY THIS IN YOUR COFFEE CUP
when you're "draggy" and
"ALL WASHED UP"

Do you often feel under par—slowed down by listless, sluggish feelings? Accumulated body wastes can bring on these symptoms. They're often a sign that your body needs the kind of help Kruschen Salts can give in promoting the healthy action of the intestines, where food is digested, and the kidneys. You see, Kruschen is not simply a gentle but effective laxative—it is also a diuretic, which means it has the property of aiding the kidneys, too, in their job of getting rid of waste matter. Thus this easy-to-take remedy works not only promptly, but thoroughly. Just try a little Kruschen in your morning beverage when needed. See how quickly you begin to feel better all day—every day!

SKILLET MEAT LOAF MEAL
A McCall's Magazine Fall-Proof Recipe

Put 1 lb. of ground beef chuck in a large bowl. Into this goes 1 slice of stale bread broken into bits, 1 beaten egg, ¼ cup of milk, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Mix and shape into a loaf. Dust the sides with flour. Heat 3 tablespoons of meat drippings in a heavy skillet and brown the loaf on both sides. Lower the heat to simmer, add ¾ cup bouillon, cover tightly and cook 15 minutes.

Add 8 small new potatoes (we don't peel them here at McCall's Kitchens) to the meat and cook 30 more minutes. Cut 1 unpeeled squash in 4" strips; 4 scallions, tops and all in 1" pieces, add to the loaf, sprinkle with salt and pepper; cover and cook 15 minutes longer. Serves 4.

Tenants Under Rent Control Sublet at Profit Says MLA

Some tenants of living quarters in B.C. are subletting for rent greatly in excess of what they are being charged under the rental control system, Bruce Brown (L—Prince Rupert), charged in the legislature Tuesday.

Under the present system, he contended, much injustice exists.

"If the government feels that controls are still necessary let it make them apply consistently throughout B.C.—If they are not necessary then abolish them with the least possible delay," Mr. Brown demanded.

MLA WOULD PUT TEETH IN LAW TO BITE 'SLEEPER DRIVERS'

Legislation aimed at speeding up the "painfully slow, crawling driver' should be enacted as soon as possible, Alex Matthew (SC, Vancouver Centre) said in the Legislature Tuesday.

The MLA said traffic officers should be given authority to make the "sleeper driver" speed up under proper circumstances and make the highways safer.

He was referring, he said, to the type of driver who blocks the normal flow of traffic on narrow roads and won't speed up or pull over to allow others to pass.

Eight Comox Lancasters In Northern Quebec Search

HALIFAX, N.S. (BUP).—Eight Lancaster bombers en route from the West Coast to participate in a NATO exercise were diverted to the northern Quebec area today to resume an air force search for a Norseman plane missing since August 25 and carrying seven persons.

The bombers, from No. 407 Squadron, at Comox, B.C., had flown into the Greenwood air station to take part in Exercise Mariner, a huge air-sea manoeuvre being staged in the Atlantic by the navies and air forces of nine NATO countries.

Cumberland Girl Grows Up To Be Japanese Opera Star

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Japanese opera star—who sang "Annie Laurie" as a fine, old Italian ballad—visited here on her way to Toronto.

She is Aiko Saita, British Columbia-born Cumberland contralto who was touring Japan when her country entered the Second World War.

"Songs from the Western world were banned," she said, "so Annie Laurie, 'Comin' Through the Rye' and a few others I decided were from Italy. Sung in Japanese, you couldn't tell by the words, so I sang them — and they liked them."

After the war, she gained fame singing the lead in "Carmen" with the Fujiwara opera company of Tokyo.

Born in Cumberland, B.C., she started a singing career when 15 and gave her first recital in 1929, graduating from the Toronto Conservatory of Music in 1931. The next year she went to Italy to continue her studies.

In 1937 she toured Canada and in 1939 made a successful United States tour, later leaving on her Japanese tour.

"I still can't get used to the idea I am back," she said. "I have been speaking almost always Japanese and now I have to change to English I haven't used for years."

MRS. REYNOLDS

Nature Story Told in Film

A housewife who turned naturalist will present the first of a series of wildlife films on Saturday at 8 p.m. at Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium.

She is Mrs. Laurel Reynolds of Piedmont, Calif., an outstanding speaker on wildlife, who has addressed more than 200 audiences across the United States and Canada during the past year. She will present her film, "Garden Sanctuary," which deals with wildlife in a homely setting.

The film-lecture is sponsored by the Victoria Natural History Society and the Canadian Audubon Society, a conservation organization.

Other similar films will be presented here during the fall and winter. Programs are as follows: Alexander Sprunt, Jr., "Wing Havens," Oct. 30; Cleveland P. Grant, "Wildlife of Marsh and Mountain," Jan. 30; Robert C. Hermes, "Once Upon an Island," March 6; and Lorus J. Milne, "Panama Venture," May 12.

Cathedral Tower Work Started

First work in connection with a planned addition to Christ Church Cathedral was begun Tuesday afternoon.

Workmen began assembly of a scaffold on the face of the northwest tower.

A contract has been awarded for the completion of the two west towers and great central arch. Before new work can begin, however, it will be necessary for workmen to "point up" existing masonry.

This involved checking and filling of joints.

Bevan Thinks West Should Woo Russia

LONDON (CP) — Aneurin Bevan said today he thinks the time is ripe for strong efforts to ease tension between Russia and the West.

Speaking at a luncheon meeting of Commonwealth correspondents, the left-wing Labor party leader said he is convinced that there are definite changes inside Soviet Russia and that the moment may have come for a western move.

But, he added, if the United States insists on making ideological differences a bar to negotiations, she may well be more responsible for any future war than the Soviet Union.

"I take the view," said the chief exponent of the political philosophy known as Bevanism, "that there are profoundly important changes taking place within the Soviet Union—not that anything like a coup d'etat is imminent, but merely shifts and adjustments which in themselves are some of the best protections against the possibility of aggression."

Bevan said he thinks Russia has found that the pace of industrialization was too hot and that she now seeks a better balance between industry and agriculture. This tendency in Russian policy might well occupy her to the exclusion of military adventures.

95 Employers Charged For Labor Law Breach

Infractions of B.C. labor laws sent to court 95 companies or individual employers in 1952, according to provincial labor department statistics.

Fifty-one charges were laid under the Semi-Monthly Payment of Wages Act, 25 under annual holiday pay regulations and 10 under the Hours of Work Act.

One Pilot in Libya For Super Jet Race

CASTEL IDRIS, Libya (CP)—Primitive cave-dwellers peered in alarm across the scorched yellow plains of Azizio desert Tuesday as a 20th-century jet plane arrived with a supersonic bang for an attempt on the world air speed record, possibly today.

The frightened Berber tribesmen shrank back on the grass mats of their mud-and-rock homes in which their ancestors have lived since Biblical times and prayed that the faster-than-sound plane from Britain would not harm them.

They are not yet aware that their cave homes on the desert's southern fringe will provide them with front-row seats for the record attempt by Britain's Lieut.-Cmdr. Mike Lithgow in a Vickers Supermarine Swift fighter.

Some 600 families who live in the ancient caves may even see a fierce competition develop between Lithgow and fellow-Briton Neville Duke who set up the 727.6-mile-an-hour record at Tangemere, England September 7. Duke plans to bring his Hawker Hunter jet here if Lithgow threatens his mark.

Officials said that whether Lithgow shatters the speed record or not, the test will yield technical information well worth the £15,000 being spent on it. The Swift fighter will fly to Edmonton and Churchill, Man., later this year for Arctic tests. Here Tuesday the temperature was well over 100 degrees in the shade.

Victoria Naval Officer Gets Ottawa Appointment

Formerly commander of the destroyer HMCS Sioux, Cmdr. Philip E. Haddon, 42, of Victoria, has been appointed director of naval personnel at Ottawa, it was announced Tuesday from naval headquarters.

Longshoremen Ousted by AFL For Corruption

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The AFL expelled its longshoremen's union Monday for harboring "gangsters, racketeers and thugs."

The AFL convention voted to oust the 60,000-member International Longshoremen's Association despite a personal appeal on the convention floor from 69-year-old president Joseph P. Ryan.

The union has been accused by crime investigators of being infiltrated with criminal elements on the New York and New Jersey waterfronts.

The resolution ousting the ILA said:

"The ILA has permitted gangsters, racketeers and thugs to fasten themselves to the body of its organization, infecting it with corruption and destroying its integrity, its effectiveness and its trade union character."

In Seattle, a regional official of the International Longshoremen's Association said Tuesday West Coast members hope to stay in the AFL despite expulsion of the national union.

Robert Collins, secretary-treasurer of the ILA's Pacific Coast District, said "our people out here favor the AFL and hope to be able to stay in the federation."

Collins said "none of the charges about racketeering in the union has been directed at the West Coast."

Collins said the ILA has about 1,500 members on the West Coast, principally in Washington State, Western Canada and Alaska.

Victoria College Appoints Director Of Glee Singers

Appointment of Roberto Wood as director of the Victoria College Glee Club, recommended by the College Council, was concurred in Monday night by the Greater Victoria School Board.

Other appointments agreed to were those of Frederick Kriegel as part-time assistant in the German department and Mrs. B. Steel in the same capacity in the French department.

College Principal Dr. H. Hickman was given authority to appoint markers and laboratory assistants for the first term and Mrs. Constance Pettit will continue until December in the task of cataloguing hundreds of unprocessed volumes in the College library.

B.C. Doctors Urged to Buy Drugs in Larger Quantities

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia doctors have been advised to purchase drugs in larger quantities, in a move towards economy.

The suggestion was made Tuesday by a pharmacy committe, reporting to the convention of the Canadian Medical Association, B.C. division. The report also suggested doctors attempt to standardize drugs by "avoiding name brands."

The economy moves follow a request from the British Columbia Health Insurance Scheme, suggesting a reduction in the cost of drugs.

The four-day convention opened Tuesday with the election of new officers. Dr. R. G. Large, of Prince Rupert, was elected president for 1953-54, succeeding Dr. J. A. Ganshorn, of Vancouver.

Other officers are: Dr. F. A. Turnbull, Vancouver, president-elect; Doctor Gordon Johnston, Vancouver, chairman of the general assembly; Dr. J. A. Sinclair, New Westminster, secretary-treasurer.

Water Supply Promised West Saanich Indians

The Indian agent has given assurance a new well will be dug on the West Saanich reserve to provide a more adequate supply of water.

The well will be sunk in the northeast corner of the reservation where there are four houses which have been entirely without water.

SAANICH LIFTS RESTRICTIONS ON WATERING

Water restrictions imposed early this summer were lifted Tuesday by Saanich Council.

The council also gave final reading to 31 local improvement by-laws dealing mostly with water installations and the pavement of roads.

SPARE A SMOKE?

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A cord made of strips of cloth dangled from a Wake County jail window Tuesday. Passers-by, wondering if a jailbreak was planned, found this note attached:

'Please tie pack of cigarettes to this string. Thank you."

A pack about two-thirds full was tied on and the prisoner hosited happily away.

Socred Joins Attack On B.C. Telephones

The B.C. Telephone Company came under attack again in the Legislature Tuesday as Alex Matthew (SC, Vancouver Centre) charged the concern with failing to live up to its responsibility as a public utility.

The criticism came hard on the heels of statements by Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle), who said Monday the company should be taken over by the government.

"We Socal Crediters believe in free enterprise," Mr. Matthew said. "But the benefits of free enterprise and the responsibilities of free enterprise are inseparable."

The B.C. Telephone Co., he said, was granted an increase of 20.9 per cent in exchange revenue in 1949; an increase in long distance rates of 12.4 per cent and 12.7 per cent increase in exchange rates in 1951, and recently another considerable boost.

The Vancouver MLA acknowledged the company has had to face increased costs of operation and administration.

"But the increase in rates the firm has received have been substantial and should have been sufficient to enable it to give better service.

"While the rates have been going up, the service has been going down," he stated.

HUME CRITICIZED

Mr. Matthew said a new Marpole bridge is imperative, and he criticized the lack of co-operation and dilly-dallying of Ottawa and Mayor Fred Hume.

He hoped for a new liquor system "run cleanly and with uncompromising efficiency."

The member was confident the government will recommnd a system "above reproach."

"I feel in my heart that under Social Credit, government control of liquor will never degenerate into liquor control of government," he said.

"Oooh yeah?" quipped E. E. Winch (CCF, Burnaby).

He urged government action to solve the narcotic problem, but admitted he didn't know how to tackle it. But he agreed with those who say "destroy the profit motive and you destroy drug peddling. Give free treatment and peddlers will have no incentive to create new victims."

AGE 19's GET NO BEER WITH VOTING RIGHT

The government's decision to allow 19 and 20-year-olds to vote doesn't mean they can enter beer parlors and liquor stores, Premier Bennett advised the Legislature Tuesday.

He was replying to a question by Bruce Brown (Lib., Prince Rupert).

The MLA wanted to know if all the civil rights and obligations will go along with the move to lower the eligible voting age.

McGill Faces Financial Cut Visitor Says

Quebec Provincial Government's decision not to allow McGill University to accept a federal grant has placed the university in an extremely difficult financial position, Shirley G. Dixon, QC, president of McGill Graduates Society, said Tuesday.

Last year McGill received a federal grant of $615,000. This year owing to the provincial government's edict that Quebec will pay for her own education without federal aid, the university gets nothing.

Mr. Dixon was in Victoria Tuesday to attend a dinner of the Victoria Branch of the McGill Graduates Society. This is in connection with a tour he is making of the 12 branches of the society in western Canada and the United States.

Accompanying him are CPR vice-president E. A. Leslie and D. Lorne Gales, general secretary of the society.

The loss of the federal grant means that this year the university is budgetting for an $880,000 deficit, said Mr. Dixon.

FEES INCREASED

To meet this, fees have been increased by $50 per student and a $150,000 reserve which was to have been used for raising salaries, now has been set aside to meet expenses.

Last year 8,002 gave $129,000. This year, said Mr. Dixon, "we are already running ahead and at the moment are aiming at $250,000."

"Even with this money and contributions we expect to receive from people in and around Montreal, the university must still face a large deficit,' he said.

First natural gas well in the United States was drilled at Fredonia, N.Y., in 1821. The town was lighted with gas from this well four years later.

Bella Coola People Building Own Road

Canada's third outlet to the Pacific Coast, 40 miles down through the Bella Coola Valley from Anaheim Lake to the town of Bella Coola, is completed all but 500 feet, Tony Gargrave (CCF, Mackenzie) informed the Legislature Tuesday.

The remainder will be completed soon even though government financial aid for the community project has stopped for this fiscal year, he said.

At present, a person traveling from Eastern Canada must reach salt water by going down the Fraser or Skeena Valleys by rail or car. There has been no other approach through the Coast Range.

Mr. Gargrave said residents started the road a year ago after getting fed up with government promises to do something.

They started with $6,000 collected by public subscription and built 30 miles of road. They appealed to the government for assistance and were given $50,000.

They now need another $5,000 to finish it, but the government has refused further aid until next year.

"However, these fine people have decided to go ahead on their own," Mr. Gargrave said. "Bulldozers have been supplied and men are working without wage guarantees to finish off."

He asked the government to grant the needed money at once.

The highway will bring Prince George 200 miles closer to the coast, and will bring tidewater to the whole of the Cariboo, the MLA said.

The member was pleased to note the govverment plans abolition of the alternative voting system.

He said not enough scorn has been heaped on the old-line parties for the "immoral skullduggery" they exhibited in instituting the system which "rebelled" against them.

Mr. Gargrave said the B.C. Power Commission should take over distribution of electricity from the Powell River Company.

"The Powell River-West view district will never develop away from a one industry town until there are surpluses of electric power to attract diversified industries," he said.

Bella Coola and Gambier Island also need power, he added.

Social Credit complaints about a poor "press" aren't justified, Mr. Gargrave said. Social Credit has had a better press than it deserves, he contended.

He didn't like the government's plan to slash the 63-day waiting period between the day an election writ is issued and voting day.

Big ridings, he pointed out, take a long time to get around.

"Also, I don't like giving the government a chance to call a snap election," he said.

Dragon Class Yachts Arrive From Denmark

Owned by Harry Barnes and David Angus, the 30-foot one-design yachts were built in Denmark. Interest of the Duke of Edinburgh in the class has encouraged other yachtsmen to sail these slim, 29-foot, deep-keel craft. He has posted a trophy for Canadian competition.

U.S. Income Tax Cut Jan. 1 Says Humphrey

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of the treasury George M. Humphrey promised anew Tuesday that Americans will receive an income tax cut due by law next Jan. 1.

In a speech before the 79th annual convention of the American Bankers' Association, Humphrey also pledged again that the excess profits tax on corporations will be allowed to lapse at the same time.

Railroaders Ask Tax on Truckers

Suggest to Public Works Minister Industry Should Carry Greater Share of Road Costs

Imposition of a "ton-mile tax" on British Columbia truckers and establishment of a transport board to regulate the trucking industry today was recommended to Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi by a delegation from the Ship-by-Rail Association of B.C.

The group, representative of all branches of the railway industry, wants the trucking industry to bear a heavier share of the cost of building and maintaining roads.

The ton-mile tax is a levy whereby truckers pay a progressively heavier tax on each ton hauled.

WEAR AND TEAR

The association, headed by president F. H. Clark, of Port Mann, contends studies and tests show wear and tear on roads is caused by increasingly heavy truck transport.

"Today the heavy transport pays the same gas tax as the light car, and is increasingly escaping even that in some cases by the use of diesel oil which permits greater mileage per gallon, and the use of trailers which do not pay any gas tax at all."

"An adjustment is overdue. We believe the average citizen is being taxed enough without being asked to continually subsidize highway transport," Mr. Clark said.

The association wants establishment of a transport board because the highway transport industry is now a major one.

The association suggested that the motor carrier branch of the Public Utilities Commission be relieved of the work of granting certificates of public necessity and convenience.

The proposed transport board would deal with all phases of highway transportation and generally administer the law governing the transportation of goods and passengers by motor vehicles.

Mr. Clark denied the association is trying to have the highway industry legislated out of existence.

He felt a transport board would overcome the many difficulties and ills of the motor transport industry.

Chamber to Oppose Old Ballot System

Premier's Intimation of Change At Variance With CCC Policy

By ED McLEAN, Times Business Editor

Socred government's decision to kill B.C.'s alternative vote will run solidly into important opposition from B.C.'s 61 chambers of commerce.

Coming death of the 1-2-3- voting system was hinted in the Legislature last week by Premier Bennett and Percy Wright (SC, Victoria).

On almost the same day, delegates of 600 Canadian chambers of commerce, meeting at Edmonton, recommended extension of the B.C. and Manitoba alternative voting systems to all of Canada, including the House of Commons.

CCC delegates said they favored any system of alternative voting that would prevent election of minority members.

Concern about Canada's "hit-or-miss" voting system has been expressed by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce for several years. The topic was studied by a special committee and, in line with CCC practice, "grass-roots opinion" was obtained through study groups in the 600 member-boards across Canada.

Result was the resolution adopted almost unanimously by the Edmonton convention last week.

B.C. delegates returning home at the week-end were "amazed" to learn Premier Bennett's government had broadly hinted at an early return to the single-vote system. Discussions were immediately begun at Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster, and it is likely joint representations will be made to the cabinet soon.

HERE TO RELAX

Congressmen Duck Docks On Side Trip

Victoria is under investigation by a committee of the House of Representatives of the United States of America.

Eleven members of the Committee on Public Works of the 83rd Congress arrived here this morning for a whirlwind, one-day inquiry.

However, they are not looking for Communists, wasted public funds or "five-per-centers."

They merely wish to see Butchart Gardens, let the eight wives accompanying them wander through the china shops and antique stores, and look in on the provincial house in session.

Headed by Rep. Homer D. Angell, (Ore), the distinguished visitors are on a tour of public works projects in the United States, which started on the eastern seaboard. They have been examining rivers and harbors, flood control projects, roads, public buildings and grounds.

The visit to Victoria is a side-trip designed to give the U.S. legislators a brief look at some of B.C.'s public works projects.

The provincial department of trade and commerce worked out a comprehensive program for the committee members, including visits to the government gracing dock at Esquimalt and HMC Dockyard.

CONGRESSMAN HOMER D. ANGELL

However, on arrival here, they asked if they couldn't see Butchart's Gardens and the legislative assembly instead.

They will be guests of George H. Wheaton, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Wheaton at a late afternoon reception, followed by a dinner in the Empress Hotel at which Hon. P. A. Gaglardi, minister of public works, will be host.

In addition to Rep. Angell, vice-chairman of the committee, who is the senior member with 16 years of service, the party includes: Rept. J. Harry McGregor, Ohio; Myron V. George, Kansas; Charles G. Oatman, Mich.; Will E. Neal, W. Virginia; G. H. Fallon, Maryland; Robert E. Jones, Alabama; John J. Dempsey, New Mexico; Thaddeus M. Machrowicz, Michigan, and John C. Kluczpnski, Illinois.

Travelling with the consel to the committee; Charles gressmen are Robert F. McConnell, chief clerk and coun- G. Tierney, counsel, and Landon Mitchell, minority clerk of the House of Representatives.

Four-Month Show Ends

The 550 baskets will be down from the lamp standards at the end of next week.

This year the distinctive floral decorations have been up for a full four months, the longest period ever.

On their way to represent Canada at a new consulate to be opened in Seattle Oct. 1, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Senior visited Victoria today.

Canada's First Seattle Consul Old Victorian

Senior Recalls News Beat Here

Norman Senior, in Victoria today on his way to open Canada's newest consulate in the United States, is back in the city where he began his western newspaper career. Seattle's his destination.

In 1913 and 1914 he was a reporter for The Daily Times and he recollects covering a total of 20 sessions of the provincial legislature for various newspapers.

The new office representing Canada in Seattle is the second to be opened this fall. Last week a consulate was opened in Los Angeles.

As consul-general, Mr. Senior's territory will include Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, and Alaska. His own assessment of his duties is: "To provide every assistance possible to Canadian nationals in the area, and to protect the interests of individuals and Canadian industry."

LONGTIME NEWSMAN

Following his term with The Times here, Mr. Senior worked briefly in eastern Canada, then returned to the coast to represent, first, the old Vancouver World, and later the Vancouver Sun, in the press gallery of the legislative assembly.

In 1935, he was appointed private secretary and executive assistant to the late Hon. Ian Mackenzie, and held that post until 1947. On the opening of the San Francisco consulate in 1948, he served as consul, retiring from that post last year.

Davis Motors Ltd. To Change Name Under New Owner

Davis Motors Limited, 900 Fort Street, has been sold to a new firm and will be known as Empress Motors Ltd.

President and managing director will be D. H. Lawson, who said today the new firm will do business "at the same address with the same staff, selling the same product."

Seller is E. B. Davis, who has been president of the firm for the last six years. No sale price was disclosed.

The firm was started in 1915 as H. A. Davey Ltd., and is known as the oldest General Motors Corporation dealer on Vancouver Island. It later became Davis-Drake Motors, and finally Davis Motors Ltd.

Indian Lacrosse Stars Guests Of Atlin Member

Two of Canada's greatest Indian lacrosse players were to be guests of Frank Calder, Indian CCF MLA, at today's sitting of the Legislature.

Ross Powless and Roger Smith, members of the Peterborough Trailermen now participating in the Mann Cup finals with Victoria Shamrocks, accepted an invitation of the Atlin MLA.

Mr. Calder, the first Indian elected to a Canadian Legislature, entertained the players at lunch and introduced them to several legislators.

The players found they had many admirers among the lawmakers, many of whom haven't missed any of the playoff games.

Two-Year Suspension For Saanich Driver

Motorist Charles Basil Jaynes, Deep Cove, was forbidden to drive for two years by Magistrate H. C. Hall when he appeared in city police court for sentence on a traffic charge today.

Suspension was imposed after the magistrate had perused a probation officer's report on accused.

A charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident was withdrawn earlier in city police court at the request of Prosecutor Alan E. Bigelow. Jaynes, however, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a car while his license was under suspension.

BASKING SHARK

Beach Body No Mystery To Biologist

A biologist from the Pacific Biological Station in Nanaimo has identified remains of a large sea creature washed ashore at Willow Point, near Campbell River, as those of a basking shark.

The 18-foot skeleton and mass of decomposed flesh was found on the beach Friday evening.

Jim Manzer, biologist, who was making a salmon study at Campbell River early in the week, notified Dr. John Hart, biological station director, of his confirmation of Dr. Hart's earlier suggestion of shark remains.

Mr. Manzer based his findings on large cartilaginous vertebrae and large pectoral fins.

Dr. Hart explained that both upper and lower jaws of the basking shark are loose, and will drop off soon after decomposition of the body begins.

The remaining portion of the skull, consisting of only the nasal protuberance and brain cavity, is often believed by the lay observer to be the whole skull.

In addition, he said, the body of the basking shark is distorted far from its natural shape when dead and resting on a solid surface.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Wonder how many columnists have been assaulted for suggesting the new Russian theme song, "Beria not on the lone prai-ree?"

A little story in the Times yesterday led to a reunion of two friends who hadn't met for 40 years.

The paper reported that Fred Ludekens, the famous magazine artist was in town; and not long after it was on the street, Mr. Ludekens received a call from Peter Bagnato, with whom he attended South Park school.

Incidentally, Mr. Ludekens is one of the most refreshingly frank men I've ever met.

When he calls himself a "short-haired artist," he isn't kidding. "I do it for the money," he says with a grin.

And, speaking of "art" in advertising, he said yesterday "Advertising illustrations are no more art than advertising writing is literature."

Dan Wagner, Collier's man from San Francisco, claims he's the best Californian of them all.

He was born in Texas, has lived north, east, and south —mostly in New York—and now sneers when a native Californian boasts of being born there.

"I," says Wagner with dignity, "am a Californian by choice. You natives are Californians strictly because your ancestors had to get out of Missouri."

The same Dan Wagner has a definition which, with slight geographical changes, might apply to Canada as well as the United States.

After working both east and west, Wagner says:

Leith F. Abbott, of Foote, Cone & Belding in Portland, is one of the west coast's most respected advertising men, a veteran at his trade, and a smart man with an account.

You'd imagine him to be a slick, sophisticated operator, along the accepted Hollywood lines.

So you know what he did for amusement yesterday?

Watched the ships entering and leaving Inner Harbor.

"You should see that Chinook," he marveled. "Doggone thing, you'd think it was going to back right into the dock—but—wham—she gets away, slick as a whistle."

Who was it said men are little boys partially grown up?

Polio Still Menacing In Victoria District

Three New Victims in 24 Hours Tax Hospital 'Lung' Facilities

New cases of poliomyelitis are being rushed to Jubilee Hospital "faster than we like to see them," according to medical administrator for Jubilee Hospital, Dr. J. L. M. Anderson.

Three new cases have been reported in the last 24 hours.

Two boys, aged six and seven, from Saanich, were placed in isolation Tuesday afternoon and later a 20-year-old man from Royal Oak was admitted.

The recent cases have completely taken up the available iron lungs at the hospital. All iron lungs, mostly borrowed, are now in use, although several of the more compact, Blanshard respirators, which do not encase the patient's body, are still in reserve.

The new cases increase the number afflicted this year in Greater Victoria to 65 while the island total now stands at 74. There have been four deaths.

ANTI-POLIO VACCINE HERE

Twenty-eight doses of gamma globulin, a polio preventative, have been alloted Greater Victoria out of a limited supply which reached British Columbia this week.

Dr. J. L. Gayton, medical health officer for Victoria and Esquimalt, said the vaccine would be made available for children and pregnant women who might come into direct contact with paralytic polio.

Attorney-General To Hear Demand For Swindle Probe

A new demand for a Royal commission investigation into alleged shady real estate deals will be presented to Attorney-General Robert Bonner, according to W. A. Scott, whose evidence helped convict swindler Clyde Gillies two years ago.

He said he has support of a group of Social Credit MLA's who are perturbed about the case of a 63-year-old woman and her daughter who claim they were swindled out of their life savings in a deal involving sale of a store.

The savings, it is alleged, were drained away in a series of legal consultations and a lawsuit which ended in failure.

Paid Ads Said Best Medium for Public Relations

Paid advertising is the only truly effective medium to convey management's public relations message, Ridge Harlan told the morning session of the American Association of Advertising Agencies in Empress Hotel today.

Mr. Harlan, a member of the public relations department of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne Ltd., San Francisco, said such ads shouldn't be called "institutional."

"They are ads to sell ideas," he said. "They should sells ideas believeably, humanly."

Mr. Harlan said the other avenues of public relations were valuable, but could not be controlled as exactly as paid advertising.

Winthrop Hoyt, of the Charles W. Hoyt Co., New York, discussed successful advertising in the food field. Other morning speakers were Guy della Cioppa, of the CBS, Hollywood, and Earle Ludgin, chairman of the Four A's operations committee.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Hugh M. McKee, Dumac Street, Cordova Bay, was fined $45 in city police court today for traffic offences. He was fined $35 for careless driving and an additional $10 for failing to record a change of address with the motor vehicle branch. McKee pleaded guilty to both charges.

Sailor Held Guilty Of House-Breaking

Melvin Spence Rees, naval rating, was found guilty by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today on a charge of breaking and entering a dwelling house with intent to commit theft.

He was remanded to next Tuesday for sentence.

Magistrate Hall asked for a probation officer's report on accused.

Saanich Man Charged With Indecent Assault

Robert Allan, 31, of Union Road, Saanich, was remanded to Thursday afternoon's regular Saanich police court when he appeared at a special session of that court today before Magistrate H. C. Hall on a charge of indecent assault.

He is alleged to have assaulted a 'teen-age girl on the afternoon of July 16. H. K. Bate appeared as Allan's counsel and asked for the remand without

Haldane for Crown At Fall Assizes

W. H. M. Haldane, QC, has been appointed Crown prosecutor for the fall criminal assizes to open here on October 5, it was learned today.

Mr. Justice H. S. Wood of Vancouver, will be presiding judge.

So far only two cases are scheduled to come up for trial. These are: Douglas K. Vannatter, former Gordon Head soldier, charged with manslaughter arising out of a highway accident; and Robert Gordon Gregory-Allan, charged with culpable negligence, in the traffic death of a woman on Blenkinsop Road here early in the year.

Harvey Karuger and Allan Badenoch, naval ratings from Victoria, were remanded without plea to Oct. 2 when they appeared in Nanaimo police court earlier this week on charges of stealing articles from cars in the Nanaimo area.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Why is Newcastle disease, the poultry complaint, so called? Does the name stem from Newcastle - Upon - Tyne? B.N.

A.—The disease was identified about the same time, approximately a quarter of a century ago, at Newcastle, England, and in the United States. In Britain it became known as Newcastle disease, and in the United States as avian encephalomyelitis. The Newcastle name is now in common usage throughout the world.

Q. Did Victorians ever see Sir Henry Irving and Ellen Terry on any of their tours which touched the Pacific coast? H.W.A.

A. Yes. The Daily Times recorded that parties of Victorians availed themselves of a round trip at fare and one-fifth when the famous stars played in "The Merchant of Venice" in Seattle, Sept. 20, 1893, and "Nance Oldfield" and "The Bells" at Tacoma, Sept. 21.

Keep Luck on Your Side With Clover Leaf Jewelry

By PENNY SAVER

Okay, so you're the lucky type! I used to think I was, too, until my luck ran out, one day. Now I carry a four leaf clover with me at all times and strangely enough, I've been lucky ever since!

I didn't find my lucky clover, though . . . I bought it in the form of a brooch! Yes indeed, a real, honest-to-goodness four leaf clover is fused into a tiny bulb of plastic which hangs from a gold brooch clip. It's my favorite piece of jewelry.

If you want to stay lucky, do it glamourously! Buy your lucky clover leaf as a pendant or bracelet . . . even buy a pair of the leaves fused into tricky earrings. To be doubly sure, buy a whole set as this novelty jewelry is inexpensive. Let me prove it by telling you that a brooch costs $1.50, a pair of earrings costs $1.50, a pendant costs $2 and a bracelet costs $2. Don't you feel lucky already?

If the recipient of your gift is musically inclined, you couldn't find anything she'd appreciate more if your choice is a piece (or pieces) of treble clef jewelry. A bronze clef brooch would look stunning on that deep green velvet dress of hers. Perhaps she has a passion for drop earrings! If the drops were miniature treble clefs, I can almost guarantee they'd be her favorites. Brooches are $1, earrings are $2.

* * *

Jam in a mushroom pot is the latest breakfast table fad. You laugh, but just wait until you see the adorable jam pots . . . . bet you can't resist them, either! Lid is the crown of the mushroom (wine in color, with white polka dots), jam container is the green stem which sits on a green leaf, to catch drippings. Oh, yes . . . there's a little china spoon as well. Whole set costs you $2.95. Anyone looking for a shower gift?

Find Out Why This Man Stalls on Marriage

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a man hesitates about marrying a woman he has been courting, what should she do if she really loves him? That is the question asked by this woman:

Hurlock

(Q) "I have been going out with a widower for four years. We are both 35 years old. Sometimes when I ask him why we don't get married, he says, 'I'm not ready yet' or 'I don't intend to marry.' I am a divorced woman. When I ask him if it's on account of that, he says 'No,' but I don't know. I love him so much, too much for my own good. I know I'm divorced but sometimes you can't help it. Sometimes I think he will leave me for someone else. Do you think this would be fair?"

(A) If this man really loves you he will not marry someone else, even though he may not marry you. He will want to keep your friendship and would not want to turn his affections elsewhere if you were the one he really loved.

Having gone with this man for four years, you certainly must know him well enough by now to feel that you have a right to know why he is stalling on the question of marriage. You do not have to ask him point-blank why he does not marry you but, in an impersonal way, bring up the subject of remarriage and get his views on the subject.

He may have been so deeply in love with his wife that he does not want to marry again. Or he may have strong religious beliefs about marriage after a divorce. When you find out what his views are you will know where you stand.

As matters now stand you do not actually know whether he loves you or not, or whether he is just lonely and enjoys your companionship. If he does not really love you he may be marking time until he finds someone else he cares enough about to marry. That would leave you high and dry, with a broken heart, because you have allowed yourself to fall so deeply in love with him that marriage is the only happy outcome for you. Take the bull by the horns now and find out now.

As a special service to our readers Dr. Hurlock has written a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15c in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper.

TODAY'S RECIPE

SQUASH AND PEPPER CASSEROLE

3 cups peeled sliced squash
1 cup sliced green pepper (about 2 peppers)
¼ cup sliced onion
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter

Arrange vegetables in layers in a greased casserole, sprinkle each layer with salt, pepper. Top with bread crumbs, dot with butter, cover and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., about 35 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking about 10 minutes longer or until crumbs are brown and vegetables tender.

Saltair Wedding Of Interest Here And in Chemainus

A wedding of interest in Chemainus and Saltair as well as in Victoria, took place recently in Saltair Community Hall, when Norma Jean Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton West Harris, Saltair Station Road, exchanged vows with Kenneth David Dick, son of Mrs. Eva Dick, Chemainus, and the late Mr. Kenneth Dick. Mr. Huron Sheppard officiated and Bill Cochrane, Vancouver, played the piano. Mrs. Ken Barker sang a solo and Mr. and Mrs. A. McLean sang a duet.

A lace redingote, en train, was worn over slipper satin and tiered nylon tulle by the attractive bride. Her fingertip veil was caught on either side of the head with satin roses and she carried a bouquet of gladioli with a red rose centring each bloom.

Maid of honor was Miss Barbara Dick, sister of the groom, who wore pink taffeta and nylon net. Bridesmaids, Miss Margarette Sheppy and Miss Jean Carswell wore gowns of green and orchid, respectively. All carried colonial bouquets of roses.

Wearing a maize taffeta frock and carrying a basket of daisies and roses was little Shirley Taylor, five-year-old cousin of the bride. George Dick, brother of the groom, was best man and ushers were Sheldon Harris, brother of the bride, and Connon York, cousin of the groom.

Reception was also held in the community hall. A three-tier wedding cake set in white tulle centred the bridal table which was covered with a hand-crocheted cloth.

For traveling on honeymoon in the United States, Mrs. Dick donned a dark brown gabardine suit with yellow and brown accessories and corsage of gladioli and rosebuds. Mr. and Mrs. Dick will live at Fort Camp, UBC, Vancouver.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gurden (Mother of 5)

Note from a bright young mother who'd been having trouble keeping track of an active toddler: She sewed little bells on the toes of his slippers, the straps of his playsuit. Now she knows his whereabouts . . . and he's entertained by the gentle jingle.

Active toddlers with a few teeth enjoy foods that encourage chewing. The tender, special minced texture of Gerber's Junior Foods is easy for them to manage. And they love the true colors, true flavors. Appetizing choice of Gerber's Junior Fruits, Vegetables, Vegetable and Meat Dinners and Puddings! All as wholesome as baby-food specialists can possibly make them!

Toys for toddlers are most fascinating when the baby can do something with them. An easy-rolling wagon that can be pulled, filled, emptied. Big blocks, smoothly sanded (maybe Daddy can make some). Even jig-saw puzzles—special toddler's ones consisting of half-dozen or so large wooden insets.

* * *

Specialists who make baby foods and nothing else—the folks at Gerber's . . . take the utmost care with Gerber's Cereals to please doctors, babies, mothers! They're nutritious . . . enriched with B-vitamins, iron, and calcium that are so important to rapidly growing babies. They're appealing in texture and taste—with the five pleasant individual flavors: Mixed, Rice, Barley, Oatmeal and Wheat. Gerber's Cereals are ready to serve, thoroughly pre-cooked. You simply add milk or whatever other liquid your doctor prefers. No finer baby cereals at any price, in short!

NOW MARY KNOWS...

Jelly can taste like fresh ripe fruit!

you can actually see the fruity flavour in this LUSHUS flavour 'bud' more flavour you can see

See the extra fruity liquid flavour spreading through your jelly, as the "bud" dissolves, to give exciting, fruit-juice tanginess fresh as the day it was packed.

more flavour you can smell

more flavour you can taste

Your first taste tells you LUSHUS does taste like fresh, ripe fruit. Only LUSHUS gives you this fresher, more natural-tasting jelly . . . made with Shirriff's exclusive flavour "bud".

Your first taste tells you there's a marvellous difference between LUSHUS and ordinary jelly desserts made the old-fashioned way. Shirriff's exclusive flavour "bud" makes the difference. In this "bud" of pure cane sugar, sealed airtight against flavour loss, is every juicy drop of fresh, fruity liquid flavour . . . fresh as the day it was packed. Boiling water dissolves this "bud" instantly, flooding LUSHUS with the taste of fresh, ripe fruit . . . more exciting flavour than you've ever tasted in a jelly before. Get LUSHUS tomorrow!

Two Careers Beckon Adele Goult; Fashion-Wise, She Writes, Sings

By KITTY DIXON

She's one of Victoria's outstanding career girls who "knows where she's going."

Clothes play a major role in Adele's life. She designs them, sketches them, writes about them and even models them, although when it comes to fashion shows, Adele has made her name as an excellent commentator.

"I have always wanted to act," she says, "but with lines to memorize I became self-conscious. Commentating is different. When I can make friends with my audience and laugh and joke with them, I feel right at home . . . you see, it's quite all right for a fashion commentator to ad lib."

Adele, who is employed in the advertising department of a local department store, writes her own commentary from the high-fashion imports which too often do not arrive until a day or so before a big show. This happened recently, and she found herself confronted with 76 costumes to describe . . . without using the same adjective twice!

EVERYTHING GOES!

Her writing is not limited to commentaries; she is also a copy writer for the store's extensive advertising campaigns. This phase of Adele's work is not entirely fashion writing.

"Our flyers contain everything from garden hose to French lingerie," she said, "And we've got to sell both!"

Some of the fashion drawings you see in the newspaper are sketched by Adele, and she does much work on the lay-out of ad pages.

Adele's ambition to become a fashion writer found many outlets at the University of British Columbia, where she graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in 1951. She wrote fashion news for the varsity paper, "The Ubyssey", and commentaries for the many fashion shows sponsored by the Women's Under-Grad Society, for which she also modeled.

After receiving her degree, she studied fashion designing in Victoria with Victor Mott, who is now teaching in San Francisco. She designs many of her own clothes, and when asked if she could make them as well, she replied,

"No, sewing is tedious . . . I'd rather do the dreaming!"

Adele has always hoped to write for Vogue magazine. But she has another dream, which, although of secondary importance in recent years, may change her future completely.

WON GOLD WATCH

Adele Goult is a singer . . . and a good one! She made Victorians take notice this spring, when she won the gold watch award for the most promising contestant in the Victoria Musical Festival. More recently, she auditioned for the Canada-wide radio program, "Singing Stars of Tomorrow," and was selected by Rex Battle, conductor of the Singing Stars orchestra, to make a recording which will be sent to Toronto and heard by a panel of judges. If they like it . . . she's on!

She began her musical studies with her mother, Mrs. B. H. E. Goult, ATCM, and studied in Vancouver with Phyllis Dilworth Inglis and William MacIntyre. In her final year of varsity, Adele gave two CBC broadcasts. A valuable member of the YWCA Glee Club, she is now studying with Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Wood.

Then with a mysterious smile: "You might say it's like that song, 'I know who I love, but the dear knows who I'll marry!'"

Fall Floral Arrangements Deck St. Andrew's Church

A profusion of mixed fall flowers decorated St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Saturday evening, for the wedding ceremony which united Norma Georgina Corkle, RN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Corkle, 2887 Inlet Avenue, and Eugene Manuel Johnson, BSc, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Johnson, Revelstoke, B.C. Rev. T. H. McAllister officiated and C. C. Warren, organist, played softly throughout the service. The choir sang "O Perfect Love" and Mrs. Reg. Piercy, sister of the bride, sang "O Promise Me."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in nylon net. Her bouffant skirt featured panels of lace and she wore a matching lace jacket with stand-up collar. A Juliet cap of lace and net held her finger-tip veil of nylon net and she carried a prayer book topped with pink rosebuds and heather.

Mrs. Piercy was matron of honor for her sister, wearing a gown of delphinium blue nylon net and lace with tiara of pink carnations and bouquet of the same flowers combined with ivy. Bridesmaid, Miss Marion Clare, chose a gown of pink net with white carnations forming her hair bandeau and bouquet.

Leaving for a honeymoon Up-Island, the bride wore a grey and white tweed box jacket suit with black velvet trim, black and white accessories and orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will live at Trail, B.C.

IODE Bursary Tea Planned Saturday

At the first fall meeting of Victoria Municipal Chapter, IODE, plans were announced for the Bursary Tea, to be held Saturday in the Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay Company. Mrs. W. R. Roskelley of Florence Nightingale Chapter and Mrs. G. A. R. Stelck of Esquimalt Chapter, are convening the tea at which seven $100 bursaries will be presented to high school students of Greater Victoria and a $100 bursary to Miss Irene Byatt for continuance of her studies in England.

Mrs. T. Lumsden presided and a special guest at the meeting was Dr. Marion Sherman who gave an informative talk on recreation for senior citizens.

Members were reminded of the "Fashions in Music" show at Club Sirocco, September 30, which is a benefit show for Miss Byatt arranged by clubwomen of Victoria, at which IODE chapters are assisting.

Mrs. Lumsden reported on activity during the summer and outlined plans for the coming months. Film convener, Mrs. Van Norman reported National Chapter has purchased copies of the Coronation picture, "A Queen Is Crowned." Municipal Chapter is purchasing an additional supply of film strips for use in schools of this area. It was reported Gonzales Chapter had sent in nursery bags and babies' woollens to value of $67.75 for shipment overseas.

Regent, Mrs. Lumsden, was appointed delegate to Provincial semi-annual meeting at West Vancouver, October 15, and will be accompanied by standard bearer, Mrs. L. A. Lucas.

HAIR DO'S AND DONT'S

By Carol Douglas
famous beauty consultant

Hair styles, like clothes styles, change with the season. Swinging to one of this season's refreshing new fashions in hairdo's will brighten your whole personality.

DO start with a new home permanent — it makes a new hairdo so easy to set and to keep looking lovely.

And for your next permanent, use Toni Spin Curlers. They're twice as easy, twice as fast — and a permanent investment. Get a complete set including midget Spin Curlers for wispy neckline hair. Only $1.29.

DON'T expect every hair style to suit you perfectly. You can widen a thin face with soft curls at the sides, lower a high forehead with bangs in your hairdo.

DO take care of your hair, whatever style you choose. Brush daily, shampoo weekly. And for the beauty of soft water shampooing—even in hardest water — use Toni Creme Shampoo. It floods your hair with healthful lanolin lather. 4-oz jar, $1.00, 2-oz tube, 65c.

DO keep your hair gleaming with highlights. Just 20 seconds with Toni Creme Rinse — the new invisible hair dressing—and your hair will be rich and lustrous...easy to comb and set...tamed and tangle-free from one shampoo to the next. 4-oz bottle, only 59c.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Worry and Stew; Find Time For Some Fun

I do not know why people wear themselves out constantly by taking themselves so seriously. Of course any worthwhile person accepts his responsibilities toward life and others with seriousness but it doesn't have to be grim, at least not any grimer than we have to make it.

Yet, we go about tense hurried, frowning and worried, about half of the time. So many of the circumstances and happenings we fret about are funny if we would just look at them that way. At least they have elements of the ridiculous in them. We could get about twice as much really good work done if we could learn to approach it in a relaxed way. We would certainly be much less tired at the end of a day, have better health, live longer, and enjoy living more.

Unless we just happen to be born with a happy-go-lucky nature we must take definite steps in order to save ourselves the emotional wear and tear which has such a drastic effect on our energy and our appearance, our digestion and our blood pressure.

Whenever you get in a "stew" again about anything, personal relationships or business, deliberately stop and think, "Is it really worth the wear and tear? Anyway is this helping any?"

That sounds very simple but it takes simple but definite steps to overcome the tense worried habit.

You haven't time for a vacation? Well, I have seen many instances in which Mother Nature stepped in and took people right out of the grooves they had felt so important, to give them a vacation which was not nearly so pleasant as the ones they had bypassed. If you are going to break yourself down, at least have some fun doing it.

You don't have time to take short rest periods during the day? Of course you do if you just will!

Don't keep yourself under pressure all of the time. Let the interior decorating wait, let the new car wait, let the new clothes wait. Let supper wait, or let them get it themselves once in a while, but have some fun!

If you are a victim of the worry habit and want some sound psychological suggestions for breaking the habit, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 64, "Worry," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Pistol-Packing Mom From Kenya Awed By Big City; 'Safaris Are Safer!' She Says

NEW YORK. — Africa was never like this, sighed the mother of four when she sighted the noon-hour traffic.

This mother talks about safaris as if they were shopping trips (and easier on the feet, at that). She also refers coolly to family pistol practice if you really start questioning her about life on their 350-acre farm at the foot of Mt. Kenya in South Africa.

"It is much easier to bring up children there than in a city like this," said Mrs. Muriel Allen.

She looked a well-dressed suburban matron, but her accessories were more picturesque. A small pin on the shoulder of her red wool jersey dress was made, she said, from the floating bones of a leopard. Her bracelet was made from the hair of an elephant's tail.

Mrs. Allen is the wife of Frank "Bunny" Allen, who spends about six months of every year taking visiting hunters on safaris for big game. Their four children, from 14 to 23 years old now, started out taking "short safaris" almost as soon as they could walk, Mrs. Allen said.

"I don't worry about them because they learn to take care of themselves in country like that," the tiny, attractive mother said. "Wild animals won't hurt you unless you interfere with them."

While the Allens are here on a lecture trip, their farm is being run by their oldest children, David, 23, and Barbara, 21. The windows must be blacked out each night as a precaution against Mau Mau terrorists, who have been killing whites in the Kenya section.

"Barbara carries a pistol with her always," her mother said with apparent unconcern. "David got special leave from the Kenya regiment to help her while we're away. Both David and Anthony are serving in the Kenya regiment while the Mau Mau emergency exists."

"I have three big trophies," she said proudly, "a buffalo, an elephant and a rhinoceros." She and her husband just returned from a three-week safari arranged for a family from Texas before they came to this country. Before that, she supervised the care and feeding of the movie stars on a huge safari for the filming of "Mogambo" near Nairobi.

"Americans usually bring heavy boots over and then toss them aside about the second day of a safari," Mrs. Allen said. "You don't do much walking any more. You cover all long distances by motor transport. We usually wear tennis shoes or some light, rubber-soled shoe."

Mrs. Allen plans a few short safaris along Fifth Avenue so she can take back American nylons for herself and her daughters. "We love to copy your fashions," she admitted. "And we like sheer stockings the same as women do anywhere."

Canada's first lobster hatchery was established at Bay View, near Pictou, N.S., in 1891.

Most Foods Have Been Analyzed Help to Those on Special Diet

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The question of the composition of foods is often of considerable importance to those who are on a special diet and fortunately, for this purpose, almost all foods have been analyzed.

Q.—Will you please inform me as to the ingredients in beer and ale? Mrs. B.L.

A.—Different brands of beer and ale will vary from one another somewhat. The average glass of beer, however, will contain approximately 4.5 per cent alcohol, 4.5 per cent extracts, and will provide around 125 calories. A glass of American ale runs around 6.02 per cent alcohol, 4.86 per cent extracts, and will provide about 155 calories.

Q.—I am 30 years old and two years ago had part of my thyroid gland removed. Will this cause an early change of life? Mrs. M.

A.—Unless so much of your thyroid was removed as to give you an underaction of this gland (which is not counteracted by taking thyroid pills) it should not cause an early change of life.

Q.—Is it true that two blond parents are unlikely to have a red-headed boy, but that one blond parent and one dark-haired one might have a red-haired child? S.G.

A.—It is correct that two blond-haired parents would have only blond-haired children. A person with dark hair, however, may be carrying what is known as a red gene and, therefore, children of such a parent and one who is blond may or may not have red hair.

Q.—What causes lymphosarcoma of the tonsils and is there a cure for it? T.R.

A.—Lymphosarcoma is a kind of malignant tumor and no one can tell exactly what causes such tumors. In all probability the treatment would be removal of the tonsils, quite likely followed by radium or X-ray treatment.

Q.—I have a problem with the sun. When I go out in the bright sunshine I sneeze and get a tingling sensation in my nose. What is this strange thing? Miss O.

A.—This is a common phenomenon. What probably happens is that the bright sunlight stimulates a portion of the brain which might be called the sneezing centre and results in watering of the nose and an impulse to sneeze.

Refrigerator Escape Device Wanted by Mayors

MONTREAL (BUP)—Mayors from Canada and the United States will be asked to make an effort to halt the growing number of deaths resulting from children being trapped in refrigeration units.

Mayor Thomas Quigly of Stamford, Conn., said Tuesday he had been asked by his civic officials to bring the matter up at the international municipal congress under way here.

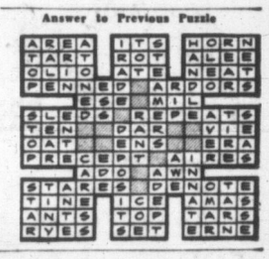

He was expected to ask the mayors to petition manufacturers of ice boxes, refrigerators and home freezers to install in their products an emergency device which will allow anyone trapped in them to get out.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MOST OF US 'ARRANT SNOBS'

'Mister' Must Be Earned; 'Esq.' Is Son of a Peer

LONDON (UP) — One of Britain's most blue-blooded noblemen called on the common people today to drop their only claim to a title — the lowly "Mister."

He said it was "arrant snobbery" to go around calling yourself mister unless you have the right to call yourself one.

And you haven't got that right unless you are, among other things, a university graduate, he said.

The call came from Capt. Iain Moncreiffe, husband of the Lord High Constable of Scotland, the Countess of Errol.

Capt. Moncreiffe took his anti-mister stand in the midst of a continuing debate on who has the right to have "Esq." after his name. In Britain, esquires officially are the sons of peers and knights and certain judges, lawyers and law officers.

But the "Esq." is being freely used in addressing practically everybody and purists in this country are demanding that it be confined to the people really entitled to it or be eliminated entirely.

From his Scottish fastness at the Bridge of Earn, Moncreiffe ruled that the problem of esquire is not as acute as that of mister. You can be born an esquire, he held, "but nobody can be born a mister."

"Mister is correctly the style of a university graduate and can only be achieved through a certain amount of personal merit," he said. "What arrant snobbery it is to assume the title of Mister!"

Moncreiffe indicated he yearned for the "straightforward unsnobbish days" when "the man who was not entitled to a style was not given it, and plain John Smith used neither prefix nor suffix."

Showman George Fearon, one of the anti-esquire group, related that when letters failed to reach him in a town in the Netherlands he asked if by chance there was anything at the post office filed under "Esq."

"Ah," the clerk said, "there is a popular gentleman by that name who never collects his letters. We have hundreds for him."

Beer License System Under Fire in House

Liberal Member Says Socreds Blaming Ottawa Too Much; Hints Bennett Ambitious

Present system of granting beer licenses is so inequitable and unfair it appears the Liquor Control Board arbitrarily makes whatever regulations it wishes, Bruce Brown (Lib., Prince Rupert) said in the Legislature Tuesday.

The northern MLA, in calling for complete revision of the licensing system, told of a case in his city.

He said a small group wanted to invest $100,000 in a new 40-room hotel, and asked for a beer license. They were refused on the grounds that regulations provided that no license can be issued unless the new premises gave as much or more accommodation than the largest hotel in the city.

"Some time later, when it was discovered and pointed out that a license had been granted elsewhere in the province not complying with this regulation, they were then assured of a license. In the meantime, the group had invested the funds elsewhere and Prince Rupert lost much-needed hotel accommodation," Mr. Brown said.

BOOSTS VALUE

It's common knowledge, he added, that a hotel owner holding a beer license is able to dispose of his business for many times the true value of its physical assets only because he is in the preferred position of being a license holder.

"This occurs with great frequency and the license is almost automatically transferred to the purchaser without any investigation as to his integrity," he said.

He believed present holders should be treated fairly by new legislation but shouldn't be able to sell their licenses at big profits—or any profit.

The government announcement that the liquor monopoly will be broken was welcomed by Mr. Brown.

He said liquor licenses should be granted to anybody found to be of good character who has premises meeting the standards set out in the act.

TOO MANY EXCUSES

Mr. Brown said the Social Credit government has tried to excuse itself long enough by trying to make whipping boys out of past governments and Ottawa.

The speaker, referring to Premier Bennett's substantial requests for financial aid from Ottawa, said:

"The old adage 'He who pays the pipe rcalls the tune' still holds. Is it that the premier, or should I say the prime minister, is not interested in provincial autonomy? Could he have his sights set in an easterly direction—towards Ottawa?"

He said he didn't mean British Columbia shouldn't get a fair break from Ottawa "but let us not use it as an excuse for not progressing."

The member believed most of the opposition to alternative voting would disappear if the annoying three-week wait after voting day was abolished.

Garagemen Seek Close Organization For Own Protection

Further organization of garage and service station workers was discussed at the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Automotice Maintenance Workers (TLC) joint council in Nanaimo last weekend.

Delegates claimed several unorganized garages in various localities are undermining the industry and welfare of organized workers.

Officers elected were M. Kolston, Port Alberni, president; Sydney Worboys, Victoria, vice-president; Lloyd Mathews, Pork Alberni, sceretary-treasurer.

The council represents about 400 garage workers in Victoria, Duncan, Nanaimo, Port Alberni, Courtenay, and Campbell River.

Family Recovering From Crash

Members of a Nanaimo family injured when their truck plunged down a steep embankment on the Malahat drive early Sunday morning after hitting a deer, were reported making good progress at Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

Their son, Jimmy, only slightly hurt, is still in hospital but in good condition. A second child was not detained in hospital.

Council to Meet Town Planners To Study Zoning

A joint meeting of City Council and Victoria Town Planning Commission next week is being arranged to consider the draft of a new, comprehensive by-law dealing with zoning.

The draft has been prepared after long study by the commission. The joint meeting is aimed at giving aldermen a chance to ask questions and suggest revision. The meeting will probably be held Monday.

The city's present set of zoning regulations has developed piecemeal over a long period of years. On occassions there has been uncertaintity and difficulty in determining exactly what was what with regard to zoning.

The new by-law consolidates the mass of regulations and is designed so that provisions are clear and in accordance with an overall plan for future development.

EXPLAINING THE "EXCHANGE RACK"

Your clothing brought into the shop has a trade-in value providing it is clean and of good quality. Its trade-in value amounts to 33 1/3 per cent of any article on the Exchange Rack.

If you wish to buy straight from the rack with no trade-in, you are entitled to 20 per cent discount off the marked price seen on the clothing tags.

PLEASE NOTE:

As of September 15th, you may trade in on the items on the New Merchandise rack to 25 per cent. There is, however, no discount for straight cash buying on these brand new articles since our prices are already 2% to 50 per cent lower than anywhere else in Victoria.

A small deposit will hold any article for two weeks.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

How would you play today's hand if you were South, the declarer, at a contract of four hearts? West opens the five of diamond, and you must plan the play.

If you go with the ace of diamonds, you will surely lose a diamond and two spades. If you then get a bad trump break (and you will, because West has a natural trick) you will be set.

If you begin by playing a low diamond from the dummy, East will take the king of diamonds and will return a spade since it is quite clear that immediate action may be necessary to prevent you from getting a spade discard on one of dummy's diamonds.

In short, you lose your contract whether you take the finesse or refuse it. When the hand was actually played, South made his contract by taking the finesse in a peculiar and deceptive way. He played the queen of diamonds from dummy at the first trick.

If the finesse had succeeded, South would have drawn trumps and would have been content to give up two spade tricks and a trump trick if necessary. Since the hand was being played at rubber bridge, South really didn't care about risking a possible overtrick; he just wanted to make sure of his game contract.

As it happened, East won the first trick with the king of diamonds. He reasoned that South could not have the jack of diamonds, since he had played the queen of diamonds from dummy at the first trick. Apparently it couldn't do any harm to return a diamond, and it might do a lot of good. Hence East returned the nine of diamonds.

This was exactly what South had hoped for. He won the second trick with the jack of diamonds, drew three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and cashed the ace of diamonds in order to discard a losing spade. Now the defenders could get only one spade, one trump, and one diamond, not enough to defeat the contract.

CARROL RIGHTER'S
ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1953

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) — Don't upset conservative member of family by making changes essential for your success in personal arrangements for future. Use your best judgment and it will be simple and easy to do.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Yielding to personal pique and lambasting another, no matter how clever you may sound, will only add to hurt feelings and complications. Be kind and more considerate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Living beyond your means today causes quick reckoning from one who has the right to expect more simple and inexpensive outlays by you. Make others happy in satisfactory pleasures that are economical.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — Forget your personal feelings in quietly assisting others with their troubles, for you have remarkable abilities to soothe away distress. Make you home attractive. Be happy!

LEO (July 22 to August 21) — Sidestep tiresome responsibility. Get out in brighter, happier surroundings, where influential friend who admires you brings improved conditions and vivacious associates.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22) — Bombastic, erratic advocate of your goals is likely to think you require far more expenditure than is justified. Tactfully avoid this issue; do your job in original way.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)—Keep out of the way of irritable official who does not like some of your staunch supporters and would cause estrangement. Today is fine for making new associates and more in tune with your aims.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) — Before you impatiently go stalking off to appealing new horizons, attend to essential obligation, annoying duty or service to others. Patience expressed saves you much money.

SAGGITARIUS (November 22 to December 21)—Sidestep financial demands. Contact friends who have more rounded experience; let them give excellent suggestions for ways to replace present worries with the desirable.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — Be kind, thoughtful, considerate with rebellious colleague who would unwisely break up present arrangements; excellent for tactfully going along conservatively with all in power.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Forget regular duties by going on mental, physical or spiritual journey with friend who can show you far better ways to be a success. Have fun!

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Conflict between heavy expenses and simple pleasures should be resolved in favor of doing whatever is best in the opinion of those in authority. Systematize your budget.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY . . .

A child born Thursday is one of those active youngsters with so much charm combined with pioneering ability that it will be easy for others to give your child a helping hand in the attainment of his or her ambitions. However, those who are experienced and have power will observe closely and only grant favors when sure that a solid and firm foundation is present in plans propounded to them. Never train this child for routine work.

Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Astrological Forecast booklet for October is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and 25c with a self-addressed and stamped envelope to The Times, Forecast, Box 350, Madison Square Station, New York 10, New York.

WIFE FORGIVES HUSBAND WHO GAVE HER 42 BLACK EYES

Reeves missed a jail term because his wife told the judge she forgave her husband for the 42 black eyes he had given her in 4½ years of marriage.

600 Square Dancers To Attend Jamboree

More than 600 will participate in a jamboree in the Victoria Curling Rink Friday night which will feature the first display of a new square dance routine.

Participated in by a number of dance clubs, the jamboree will permit each group to learn the new dance. Instructing in its intricacies will be Jack Mooney, local caller.

Mr. Mooney has just returned from Asilomar Square Dance Camp, where callers from all over the continent are introduced to the new dances.

Proceeds from the affair will go to United Commercial Travelers' charities. Emcee will be Archie Thomson, assisted by additional callers, Ernie Livesay and Miss Dawn Draper.

Local clubs attending include the Wagon Wheelers, Double D's, Circle B, Broken Spokes, Calico Kickers, Rotary Squares, Mount View High, Ballroom Belles and Beaux, Let's Dance Club, Jeans and Bonnets, and the Mavericks.

Clubs and callers from all over the Island and from the United States are expected to attend.

Music will be by the Hometowners and space is being readied to accommodate 300 spectators.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) A (Don't Miss) BB (Worthwhile) B (For Rainy Days) C (To out to time)

(BB PLUS) "THE CHARGE AT FEATHER RIVER" (Capitol) — When it isn't exploiting the usual three-dimensional gimmicks, this Warner Bros.' western is a prime example of what 3-D photography can do for our present-day "flat" movies.

The natural outdoor shots in Warnercolor are breath-taking. The actors and action come alive in the new medium that adds depth and reality to what might have been only an average western action.

The story is about civilian scout Guy Madison (who has been hunting Indians and rustlers as a TV renegade recently) and his army sergeant pal, Frank Lovejoy, who lead an army expedition to rescue two captured white girls from the Indians.

After much fighting, loss of blood and life, however, it is embarrassing to learn that the rescued gals would rather have stayed unrescued. Helen Westcott has been mishandled by the redskins and doubts whether her own people will receive her again. The other, Vera Miles, has given her loyalty to her captors and her love to a Cheyenne chief.

Height of the tension and suspense comes when the hardy band of rescuers return to the fort with the two girls only to find the Indians have arrived before them, wiping out nearly the entire garrison. The little band's flight to freedom through the ranks of the wily enemy makes for thrilling entertainment.

Of course Warners' director, screen writers and what have you couldn't let well enough alone. The usual gags are all there—with one addition. You duck thrown knives, chairs, arrows and just about everything else that can be fired or flung. What is more—if you can believe it—you also get treated to a stream of chawin' tobacco right in your little eyes. How much lower can the boys sink to reach for their thrills than this, eh?

However, in spite of the tobacco and the rest of the tricks, this is a good, fast-moving western with magnificent three-dimensional scenery.

Swedish Officer Arrested by Poles

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish foreign office said Tuesday the first officer aboard the Swedish ship Gunnel had been arrested at Gdansk, formerly Danzig, Poland, on charges of helping Poles flee their Communist-ruled homeland.

The announcement said Einar de Joung, the officer, was arrested Saturday after two Polish citizens were found hiding aboard the 3,015-ton vessel.

Creamed Salmon

So Quick and Easy to Fix

1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup Carnation Evaporated Milk diluted with ½ cup water
1 flat can (half-pound size) canned salmon

• Melt butter in saucepan over medium heat. Stir in flour and salt; cook 1 minute; remove from heat and add ½ cup milk; blend carefully until all lumps are gone. Add remaining milk and return to heat, stirring constantly until sauce thickens and boils. Add salmon and serve immediately over freshly made toast. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

"From Contented Cows"

For Plain or "Fancy" Cooking— Use the Milk that Whips!

CARNATION MILK is double-rich milk — concentrated to the consistency of cream. So it's perfect for your fanciest "company" desserts, as well as all regular milk purposes!

IF YOUR RECIPE SAYS "MILK" use Carnation diluted with an equal amount of water. This way you have homogenized, heat-refined milk with all of good milk's food values, and extra creamy-smoothness.

USE IT LIKE CREAM . . . for whipped toppings, on fruits, cereals, puddings . . . in most recipes calling for costly cream. Millions prefer undiluted Carnation to cream for their coffee, too.

U.S. Living Costs at All-Time High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Higher food prices and rents pushed the United States government's cost-of-living index to a record high mark today.

The rise to 115 per cent of the 1947-1949 average means a three-cent hourly wage boost, effective next month, for 1,300,000 rail workers. This will boost annual payroll costs of U.S. railroads by $100,000,000.

The index figure announced today records living costs as of Aug. 15. It advanced 3-10ths of 1 per cent from the month previous.

9 Dead, 25 Hurt in Factory Blast

TONAWANDA, N.Y. (AP)—At least nine men were killed and 25 persons were injured today when two chemical storage tanks exploded and set fire to a chemical plant building.

Some of the injured were hit by debris that hurtled through the air and struck houses in the area. Many houses were damaged.

Flames shot skyward through smoke that spread for miles over the residential area north of the Buffalo city limits.

Ike to 'Correct' Taft-Hartley Act

ST. LOUIS (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a message to the American Federation of Labor, today described the Taft-Hartley Labor Act as essentially sound but promised to ask Congress in January to correct "a number of defects."

The president gave his message to Vice-President Richard Nixon to deliver in person. It came in the midst of hot controversy between the White House and Eisenhower's former secretary of labor, Martin Durkin, over whether the president backed out of an agreement to support certain specific changes in the labor legislation.

'Epidemic' Hits Kamloops Infants

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Doctors at the Royal Inland Hospital here took precautionary measures today aimed at determining the cause of an outbreak that has brought illness to several infants.

There have been no fatalities, but one official said the outbreak had reached "epidemic proportions."

The first of what was to become series of cases of infant diarrhoea came to the attention of hospital authorities Sept. 8.

MANY MORE RESCUED BY SOCIETY

300 Song Birds Perish Flying Into Empire State

NEW YORK (CP)—Scientists of the National Audubon Society today counted more than 300 night-flying song birds from upstate New York and Canada which crashed to their deaths against the upper storeys of New York's tallest structure, the Empire State building.

The songsters, carried by a rushing mass of cold air and unable to see the building in a haze, flew into the big structure and then dropped to its ledges and the sidewalks below. Many others, only slightly injured, were rescued by society representatives. These will be banded and set free.

Society scientists concluded the birds were flying in a southbound mass of cold air which passed over the city Tuesday night. They followed the cold mass when it dipped under a mass of warmer air and ran smack into the Empire State building.

Society representatives said the dead included 15 kinds of warblers, vireos, a northern white thrush and ovenbirds, all apparently migrating to the southern states.

SIX MILLION STRIKE TONIGHT

ROME (UP)—Italy's printers walked off the job tonight, spearheading a 24-hour general strike by up to 6,000,000 workers calculated to paralyze the country.

The main strike was called for midnight.

But the printers anticipated it, and nearly all of Italy's booming industrial plants closed down at sundown tonight for the 24-hour period.

Attend Peace Talks Pearson Urges Reds

Canadian Minister Says Korean Issue 'Acid Test' of Intention

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Canadian External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson warned the Communists today that they have no justification for delaying or boycotting the Korean peace conference.

Pearson told the United Nations General Assembly that Korea "will provide an acid test for the hope and claim that successful negotiation can and must be conducted now, not only on the future of Korea but on European and cold war problems generally, in order to bring about an easing of fear and tension and a peace that will be something better than a cold war."

He called upon Communist China and North Korea to name their representatives to the parley "without delay" and to express their views on time and place of the meeting.

This was in line with the message now en route to the Far East Communists from the United States, proposing a face-to-face meeting at San Francisco, Honolulu or Geneva to settle the site and date for that conference.

In that message, the United States suggested that the Reds could seek to raise the issue of participation of "neutral" countries—the stumbling block in the arrangements — once the conference actually got underway.

Pearson also supported this view.

Necessary Step in Peace-Making

"Once the conference meets," he said, "there will be ample opportunity to iron out other difficulties which may arise. But are these of sufficient consequence to justify the other side in boycotting this necessary first step in peace-making, not only in Korea, but perhaps in a broader area?"

Pearson suggested that if the Korean conference is successful in negotiation settlements on "a specific and defined range of questions," it may be possible to settle "wide Asian issues, not necessarily through the same mechanism we have recommended for the Korean conference."

This was support for the position fostered by the Commonwealth countries and agreed to by some American leaders that India and other neutrals could be invited to an over-all Far Eastern conference if the Korean parley is successful.

"If — and this is a big 'if'— there is good will on both sides, a settlement (of the Korean problem) should be possible. Any such settlement must provide for a free and united Korea, with a government resting on the will of the Korean people freely expressed through elections held under UN supervision. All foreign forces should, of course, be withdrawn, and Korea's security might be provided for under an international and supervised guarantee."

In an apparent reference to threats by South Korean President Syngman Rhee to resume the Korean war if the peace conference bogs down, Pearson formally notified the assembly:

"So far as the Canadian government is concerned, we will not support any military action in Korea that is not UN action, and we would be opposed to any attempt to interpret existing UN objectives as including unification of Korea by force.

"On the other hand, we are aware that the signing of an armistice does not discharge us from obligations we have already undertaken in Korea as a member of the UN."

A third message stressing the unwavering attitude of the United States was en route to Red China and North Korea.

It urged Communists countries that opposed the UN in Korea to send representatives for a face-to-face meeting with a U.S. conference delegate at San Francisco, Honolulu or Geneva.

SOUTH AFRICA HOSTILE

Kate Aitken Charged With False Claims

OTTAWA (CP)—Radio commentator Kate Aitken today was accused of "misrepresentation of South Africa abroad and fabricating an interview she said she had in January with Prime Minister Daniel Malan of South Africa.

The accusation was contained in a pamphlet issued by Alexander Steward, information officer for the South African government in Ottawa. The monthly pamphlet is called "South Africa—The Complex Country."

Mr. Stewart said Mrs. Aitken "told of her hard-earned interview with Dr. Malan, who she described as a man worse than Hitler."

He said anyone checking Mrs. Aitken's "extraordinary statements" would have learned "that Dr. Malan has never set eyes on Mrs. Aitken and that the account of the interview was a fabrication from beginning to end."

"It's Dr. Malan's word against mine," Mrs. Aitken said in Toronto.

Mrs. Aitken said she visited South Africa in January and was granted an interview with the South African prime minister. She said on her return to Canada she prepared broadcast material and a public address and submitted them for approval to the South African high commissioner's office in Ottawa.

Mr. Steward in a statement said "this material to which she, Mrs. Aitken, refers was never received by the high commissioner's office."

Mr. Steward also released the text of a letter Mrs. Aitken wrote to him Sept. 10.

The letter said Mrs. Aitken "tried to stress the fact of the future of South Africa, the outstanding effort the government has made to provide decent housing for natives, as many educational facilities as are possible and what seems to me the bright future of your part of the continent."

The pamphlet said Mrs. Aitken stated that she had prayed with Dr. Malan, at his request in Capetown.

"He asked me to pray with him, and that prayer, was the most clear directive I have ever heard," the pamphlet quoted Mrs. Aitken as saying. "He gave God a good briefing, laid it on the line so to speak, about what God should do in his country. I asked myself, how can any man call himself a Christian and feel the way he does? Yet he is not a hypocrite, and not stupid. He is just convinced within himself that he is right."

The pamphlet said Mrs. Aitken stated that Dr. Malan told her African natives did not need houses because they could sleep under trees, that the natives should have no education but the whip, and that Jews in South Africa should be stripped of their possessions and run out of the country.

'Sonny Jones' to Seek Executive Clemency

An application for executive clemency on behalf of negro boxer Charles Mathews, alias Sonny Jones, sentenced to be hanged on Oct. 27 for the murder of a Vancouver woman, will be made to the Minister of Justice, defense lawyer Harold Fisher said today.

Mr. Fisher said he will ask the Minister of Justice to exercise the prerogative of mercy and to commute the death sentence to that of life imprisonment in the penitentiary.

The 20-year-old American boxer was moved to a death cell in the New Westminster penitentiary today to await execution. His appeal against a murder conviction was dismissed by the B.C. Court of Appeal here Thursday.

The court's decision was unanimous.

JUDGMENT

In handing down judgment on behalf of the court, Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan said that no substantial grounds of appeal had been advanced to warrant a new trial.

"It is impossible for me to say that the trial court's finding can not be supported by the evidence," he said.

Mathews was convicted in Vancouver assizes last June of the murder of Mrs. Los Angeles Smith, 44, in her Vancouver east-end home. He beat her to death with a hammer.

The accused also attacked and beat Mrs. Jocelyn Wallberg, who was living in an upstairs apartment in Mrs. Smith's home. She was left on her bed in a semi-conscious condition by the boxer.

Mr. Fisher in his appeal here pleaded that the boxer was insane when he committed the crime and was not responsible for his act. The court rejected his submission.

DISSATISFIED

Commenting on the case today, Mr. Fisher said he is not entirely satisfied with present-day legal definition of insanity.

"A case in 1843 fixed the test whereby a man is to be adjudged insane," he said. "In spite of the advances made in psychiatry during the past 50 years, the test remains the same.

During the hearing of the appeal Tuesday, Mr. Fisher was asked who would inform Mathews that his appeal had failed.

"After the Pavlukoff episode I can assure you that Warden Christie will tell my client," he replied.

His reference was to the death of Pavlukoff by his own hand while awaiting the outcome of an appeal against the death sentence. Mr. Fisher, associated in his defense, had taken word of the court's decision to the prisoner. Soon afterwards Pavlukoff committed suicide in his cell.

TOLD NEWS

Mathews Lacerates His Arms

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Charles Mathews, alias Young Sonny Jones, who Tuesday lost his death sentence appeal, inflicted minor injuries upon himself last night in retaliation to the appeal dismissal, Warden Hugh Christie of Oakalla prison said.

Christie said Matthews, due to be hanged Oct. 27, scratched himself 25 times on the arm, from the shoulder to the wrist, in an "expression of aggressiveness and hostility towards custody."

Christie said the wounds were of only a minor nature and were treated in his cell.

Prison officials said Matthews took the news that his appeal has been rejected quite calmly, but later scratched himself on a wire screen or the edge of the bunk in his death-row cell.

79 Douks Hear Fate Tomorrow

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Seventy-five Doukhobor fanatics, convicted of nudity at trials lasting only three minutes per case, began a 48-hour wait today as the court considered the sentences it will impose Friday.

Three-year penitentiary terms could be meted out to each Doukhobor.

Another 53 members of the Sons of Freedom sect, most of them women, still awaited trial. Seven of the 144 originally arrested for stripping in front of schoolchildren were acquitted. There were five remands.

Meanwhile, Oakalla Prison officials reported that the Sons of Fredom prisoners were all back on solid foods for the first time since being brought to the jail from Perry's Siding in the Kootenays.

Delayed Broadcast To Be Permitted On Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP).—The International Boxing Club has loosened its restrictions on radio broadcasts of the Rocky Marciano-Roland LaStarza heavyweight fight Wednesday after the Supreme Court granted radio station MOV, of New York permission to present a summary after each round.

BERIA REPORTED HIDING IN SPAIN

MADRID (Reuters)—The newspaper ABC reported today that Lavrenty Beria, former Soviet interior minister, is hiding in Spain after escaping from Russia.

The newspaper said it considered the story "probably" true, but offered no proofs.

It claimed that Beria was parachuted into the La Mancha region of central Spain. There he was picked up by a waiting car and taken to a spot on the Spanish coast.

ABC said that "Beria was flown to Spain by Soviet pilots who had taken part in the civil war in Spain and were therefore fully familiar with the country."

"He and the crew baled out and left the empty plane flying with automatic controls set and with the fuel supply calculated so that it would fall into the Atlantic and leave no trace."

ABC claimed that representatives of the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation had reached Spain to interview Beria, who fell from grace in Russia in July.

It said they bore credentials from Vice-President Richard Nixon and Senator Joseph McCarthy's Senate investigations sub-committee.

Most Madrid circles were inclined to dismiss the story as fantastic, but were puzzled to know why it had been passed by the press censorship here. Censors usually hesitate to pass stories in which decisions of the Spanish government are quoted, without making careful investigation into the matter.

ABC said that the government had granted permission for Beria to leave Spain.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Intelligence and diplomatic authorities said today it is theoretically possible, but "extremely unlikely," that Lavrenti P. Beria, deposed No. 2 Russian leader, has escaped from the Soviet Union and is hiding in a neutral nation.

"I would say that the odds are about 1,000,000 to one against it," said one highly-placed official who is in a position to know about any secret information reaching this government from abroad.

MOSCOW (UP)Soviet authorities continued today to ignore reports circulated abroad that former interior minister Lavrenti P. Beria has fled Russia.

There has been no mention of the reports by the Soviet press and radio.

Mrs. Aitken said she visited South Africa in January and was granted an interview with the South African prime minister. She said on her return to Canada she prepared broadcast material and a public address and submitted them for approval to the South African high commissioner's office in Ottawa.

Mr. Steward in a statement said "this material to which she, Mrs. Aitken, refers was never received by the high commissioner's office."

"These reports . . . were published by newspaper after newspaper in Canada without, apparently, the lifting of a single editorial eyebrow," the pamphlet said.

Reds Violate Truce Claims U.S. Air Chief

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—Lt.-Gen. Samuel E. Anderson, 5th Air Force commander, charged today the Reds moved planes into North Korea after armistice day and Gen. Mark W. Clark quickly called a conference with his staff to discuss reports of the truce violation.

Anderson, highest ranking United Nations air officer in Korea, said he knew a week ago of the Communist plane movements. A fugitive from Communism confirmed the reports Sunday.

Clark, supreme U.N. commander in the Far East, summoned staff officers to his headquarters and it was learned that he may break his silence on the alleged Communist air build-up tomorrow.

Clark was expected to demand a thorough investigation by neutral inspectors of North Korean airfields to determine whether the Reds had violated the truce.

Anderson said radar screens revealed that Communist planes, which had remained near the Yalu river during the Korean War, had ventured farther south since the Armistice than they had dared to go while Sabre jets were in the air to challenge them.

Young North Korean air force Lt. Noh Keun Suk backed up Anderson's charge by giving an eyewitness account of the Communist treachery after turning over his Russian-made MiG to U.S. authorities.

Noh said the Communists believed fighting would break out in Korea again and were preparing for resumption of hostilities.

Pearson Tells Reds To Stop Stalling

Attend Korea Peace Talks, Canadian Minister Urges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Canadian External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson warned the Communists today that they have no justification for delaying or boycotting the Korean peace conference.

Pearson told the United Nations General Assembly that Korea "will provide an acid test for the hope and claim that successful negotiation can and must be conducted now, not only on the future of Korea but on European and cold war problems generally, in order to bring about an easing of fear and tension and a peace that will be something better than a cold war."

He called upon Communist China and North Korea to name their representatives to the parley "without delay" and to express their views on time and place of the meeting.

This was in line with the message now en route to the Far East Communists from the United States, proposing a face-to-face meeting at San Francisco, Honolulu or Geneva to settle the site and date for that conference.

In that message, the United States suggested that the Reds could seek to raise the issue of participation of "neutral" countries—the stumbling block in the arrangements — once the conference actually got underway.

Pearson also supported this view.

Necessary Step in Peace-Making

"Once the conference meets," he said, "there will be ample opportunity to iron out other difficulties which may arise. But are these of sufficient consequence to justify the other side in boycotting this necessary first step in peace-making, not only in Korea, but perhaps in a broader area?"

Pearson suggested that if the Korean conference is successful in negotiation settlements on "a specific and defined range of questions," it may be possible to settle "wide Asian issues, not necessarily through the same mechanism we have recommended for the Korean conference."

This was support for the position fostered by the Commonwealth countries and agreed to by some American leaders that India and other neutrals could be invited to an over-all Far Eastern conference if the Korean parley is successful.

"If—and this is a big 'if'—there is good will on both sides, a settlement (of the Korean problem) should be possible. Any such settlement must provide for a free and united Korea, with a government resting on the will of the Korean people freely expressed through elections held under UN supervision. All foreign forces should, of course, be withdrawn, and Korea's security might be provided for under an international and supervised guarantee."

In an apparent reference to threats by South Korean President Syngman Rhee to resume the Korean war if the peace conference bogs down, Pearson formally notified the assembly:

"So far as the Canadian government is concerned, we will not support any military action in Korea that is not UN action, and we would be opposed to any attempt to interpret existing UN objectives as including unification of Korea by force.

"On the other hand, we are aware that the signing of an armistice does not discharge us from obligations we have already undertaken in Korea as a member of the UN."

A third message stressing the unwavering attitude of the United States was en route to Red China and North Korea through Sweden.

It urged Communists countries that opposed the UN in Korea to send representatives for a face-to-face meeting with a U.S. conference delegate at San Francisco, Honolulu or Geneva.

The communication included a suggestion that the Communists might attempt to have "neutral" nations represented at the conference through discussions at the conference itself.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., said the offer for a face-to-face meeting was made "to give as dramatic an indication as we can of our desire to get ahead with this conference."

Premier Frost Moves to End Gold Strike

Economic Future Of Area Threatened

TORONTO (BUP)—Premier Leslie Frost assigned his labor minister to the Porcupine gold mine strikes today as the mayor of Timmins came south to plead for the economic future of 50,000 northland citizens.

Approximately 4,000 miners were on strike at six mines in northern Ontario and Quebec and the CIO United Steelworkers' Union warned that "more strikes are inevitable" unless wage boosts were granted.

Frost instructed Labor Minister Charles Daley to meet today with Mayor J. W. Spooner of Timmins who feared prolonged walkouts would force a southward migration by idle miners and create "ghost towns" across the vast Porcupine field.

Charles H. Millard, Canadian director of the Steelworkers' Union, also was in conference in his Toronto offices, presumably mapping strategy for further walkouts at Hollister and five smaller mines left in operation.

"More strikes are inevitable unless wage talks are productive," Millard warned. "The anti-public, anti-social, anti-Christian mine owners have combined to try to smash our organization."

Delayed Broadcast To Be Permitted On Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP).—The International Boxing Club has loosened its restrictions on radio broadcasts of the Rocky Marciano-Roland LaStarza heavyweight fight Wednesday after the Supreme Court granted radio station MOV, of New York permission to present a summary after each round.

Any radio station now is permitted to give a summary in past tense after each round of the fight. A blow-by-blow description in the present tense, or a recreation of the fight, still is forbidden.

Originally, the IBC, promoter of Thursday night's bout at the Polo Grounds, had forbidden radio and television stations to use more than a 75-word descripive every hree rounds.

SIX MILLION STRIKE TONIGHT IN ITALY

ROME (UP)—Italy's printers walked off the job tonight, spearheading a 24-hour general strike by up to 6,000,000 workers calculated to paralyze the country.

The main strike was called for midnight.

But the printers anticipated it, and nearly all of Italy's booming industrial plants closed down at sundown tonight for the 24-hour period.

9 Known Dead In Acid Blast At Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP) — At least nine workers were killed today when a tank of acid exploded with terrific force at the Lucidol Inc. plant on the northern outskirts of Buffalo.

The blast rocked the suburban area for miles around and showered tons of debris on a nearby 1,250-unit housing project causing minor injuries to residents and badly damaging some homes.

Medical examiners found the charred torsoes of nine workmen who had been inside the structure when it blew up shortly before noon.

Three bodies had been taken from the smouldering ruins and six more were sighted buried under rubble at one end of the three-storey wood and brick building.

Iran Discounts London Report Mossadegh Hanged

TEHRAN (AP) — An informed army source said today that Iran's government would ask a military court to sentence ex-premier Mohammed Mossadegh to be hanged on charges to be announced probably in "three of four days."

This report from Tehran appeared to discount a dispatch from the Iranian capital to the London Daily Express today that the ex-premier had been sentenced on Tuesday to be hanged at the conclusion of a three-week secret trial. There was no immediate comment from Tehran on the Express report.

The army source said the government still had not decided whether Mossadegh's trial would be held secretly or in public.

Hope for Settlement Of Suez Canal Crisis

CAIRO, Egypt (UP) — Prospects for an agreement between Britain and Egypt over the Suez Canal zone appeared exceedingly bright today, according to the best informed opinion.

Reliable sources said Anglo-Egyptian negotiators were holding their crucial meeting at the residence of Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British commander-in-chief for the Middle East.

An important announcement may be made shortly after the session, the sources said.

MANY MORE RESCUED BY SOCIETY

300 Song Birds Perish Flying Into Empire State

NEW YORK (CP)—Scientists of the National Audubon Society today counted more than 300 night-flying song birds from upstate New York and Canada which crashed to their deaths against the upper storeys of New York's tallest structure, the Empire State building.

The songsters, carried by a rushing mass of cold air and unable to see the building in a haze, flew into the big structure and then dropped to its ledges and the sidewalks below. Many others, only slightly injured, were rescued by society representatives. These will be banded and set free.

SMACK INTO BUILDING

Society scientists concluded the birds were flying in a south-bound mass of cold air which passed over the city Tuesday night. They followed the cold mass when it dipped under a mass of warmer air and ran smack into the Empire State building.

Society representatives said the dead included 15 kinds of warblers, vireos, a northern white thrush and ovenbirds, all apparently migrating to the southern states.

RCAF Mercy Flight For Comox Youngster

VANCOUVER (CP) — An RCAF Dakota completed a successful mercy flight to Comox, B.C., early today, returning with a sick, two-day-old baby girl.

Report Recommends Britain Retain Gallows

LONDON (Reuters) — Convicted murderers will continue to suffer death by hanging rather than electrocution or the gas chamber if the government accepts the recommendation of a specially appointed commission on capital punishment.

The commission, which made a four-year study, suggested today that execution by lethal injection, though at present unacceptable, be examined as a future alternative.

Its 300,000-word report also recommended that the government raise the age limit for the death penalty from 18 to 21, but found no grounds for exempting women from execution.

The 11-member panel was set up to study conditions of execution and prison life for long-term convicts, and was instructed to offer no recommendations on the merits of keeping the death penalty itself.

The panel was set up by the Labor government after the question of capital punishment blew up into a major political storm in 1948. During a seven-week period that year Britain abolished the death penalty and five murderers escaped the gallows.

After the House of Commons by a narrow margin passed a bill putting an end to hanging, Home Secretary James Chuter Ede advised King George VI to commute all death sentences for murder to life imprisonment. Capital punishment returned when the House of Lords overwhelmingly rejected the bill.

Today's commission report will be considered by the government and may set off new debates in the House of Commons, recently stirred by Labor allegations that truck-driver Timothy Evans may have gone to the gallows unjustly for slayings committed by John Christie, the Notting Hill murderer.

After an exhaustive study of execution methods in other countries, the commission decided that hanging was still the most effective. It disclosed that the time taken to execute the condemned prisoner from the moment the hangman entered the death cell is between nine and 25 seconds — a speed unequalled by any other method.

The commission abandoned the idea of trying to limit the scope of capital punishment by dividing murder into degrees, declaring it impossible to frame a satisfactory definition of murder in the first degree. In the United States degrees of murder were an established institution, but the legal definition of "first degree" was far from satisfactory.

The commission also made these other suggestions:

Suicide pacts: The law should be amended to provide that any person who aided, abetted or instigated the suicide of another person should be guilty only of that offense and not of murder. The penalty should be life imprisonment.

Mercy killings: The members considered a proposal to take mercy killings out of the murder category "with sympathy" but decided no definition could be framed which would not be open to serious abuse.

Criminal insanity: The present ambiguous definition of mental responsibility should be abolished and the jury left to determine on its own whether the accused man was suffering from disease of the mind or mental deficiency.
